INTRODUCTION

This volume contains the description of 1000 texts contained in 100 bundles[1] of manuscripts.

The language is Sanskrit for 966, Tamil for 16, Telugu for one and Maṇipravāla, a blend of Sanskrit and Tamil, for 17. 12 Sanskrit texts are explained in Tamil.[2]

The following pages give an outline of the subjects dealt with in these texts.[3]

The traditional classification of the mūla° and upāgama-s into four sections (pāda-s), vidyā°, yoga°, kriyā° and caryāpāda, can be used first for the following three texts.

The Siddhāntasārāvali of Trilocanaśambhu treats all the matters dealt with in these four pāda-s. Four mss.: 287.10, 323.1 and 368 give the complete text, the last two with the commentary of Anantaśambhu; 329.5 gives the five verses of the kriyāpāda on the prāsādamantra.

1. 85 consisting of palm-leaves, and the rest paper. Some of these bundles were made up at the time of collection or afterwards. The texts contained are thus not always of the same origin which renders difficult an exact study of the libraries of priests acquired by the French Institute.

2. Texts in Tamil: 276.10, 276.11-21, 276.25, 279.7, 282.15, 329.4. Texts in Maṇipravāla: 276.7-9, 277.3, 278.14, 282.12, 283.5, 283.10, 285.17, 307.10, 318.1, 331.6, 338.1, 338.4, 345.6, 345.8, 346.1, 347.1. As far as the scripts are concerned, the Sanskrit texts are written in Grantha (952) and in the Telugu script (14). 167 texts have already been described in the two previous volumes of the Catalogue.

3. The purpose of this introduction is to compensate to some extent for the absence of an index of subjects (which will be included in subsequent volumes), and also to begin to comprehend this corpus in its totality. These thousand texts may be considered as an already representative sample of the literature possessed by the Śaiva priests of a part of South India, mainly Tamilnadu. An initial presentation in the form of a classification by subject comes naturally, but it must be emphazised that it is also suggested by the nature of a great number of the texts which rarely deal with more than one subject; this is one of the features of this corpus. An example is the Śaiva āgama-s of which 23 (mūla° and upāgama-s) are represented only in the form of 129 extracts. Another example is that of the Kriyākramadyotikā of Aghoraśiva of which there are 14 extracts (plus two of uncertain attribution) all of which (with the exception of 283.1 and 303.1) deal with one subject each. We have thus, for the most part, a fragmented literature. And this characteristic is common to the other texts of unidentified source which, from the point of view of their form, appear in the guise of "genres" such as kalpa, vacana, lakṣaṇa, nirṇaya, saṃgraha etc. Another feature of this corpus which merits a detailed analysis is its apparent religious heterogeneity. Besides these extracts or fragments of Śaiva āgama-s there are also extracts attributed to yāmala-s as well as other texts whose "tone" is śākta. This corpus contains as well a number of smṛti texts where the smṛtis-s may or may not be identified.

Aghoraśivācārya's Kriyākramadyotikā is represented by 14 texts (including two of doubtful attribution) among which twelve deal with only one subject (276.6 and 296.16: aṣṭatriṃśatkalānyāsa, 282.4: pratiṣṭhā, 297.5: agnikārya, 298.32: durmaraṇa, 300.5: samaya-saṃskāradīkṣā, 300.8: nirvāṇāntyeṣṭi, 366.4: śilāsaṃgrahaṇa to śilā-vinyāsa, 366.7: Gaurīpratiṣṭhā, 334.31: agnikārya, 338.8: bhūtaśuddhi, 347.2: nityānuṣṭhāna. 303.3 (incomplete) is a rendering in Maṇipravāla of the Kriyākramadyotikā.

The Kriyādīpikā of Śivāgrayogin (16th century) deals with matters relating to kriyā° and caryāpāda.

1. Texts dealing with the doctrine (vidyā).

An exposition of important topics of the doctrine of the Śaivasiddhānta is contained in 301.3-16 which are of Kashmiri origin and perhaps also from Central India: they are the works of Sadyojyoti (9th century), a pupil of Ugrajyoti, of Bhoja (11th century), of Śrīkaṇṭha, a pupil of Rāmakaṇṭha I, and of Rāmakaṇṭha II, the son of Nārāyaṇakaṇṭha. On pati, paśu, pāśa as the three tattva-s (realities): the Tattvatrayanirṇaya of Sadyojyoti (also available with the commentary of Aghoraśiva, 301.12), on Śiva, Śakti and Bindu as the three tattva-s: the Ratnatrayaparīkṣā of Śrīkaṇṭha, on the 36 tattva-s: the Tattvasaṃgraha of Sadyojyoti (also available with the commentary of Aghoraśiva, 301.14) and the Tattvaprakāśa of Bhoja. To these must be added the Tattvabhedapaṭala, part of the Vātulāgama. On bhoga (enjoyment): the Bhogakārikā of Sadyojyoti (also available with the commentary of Aghoraśiva, 301.13). On mokṣa (release): the Mokṣakārikā of Sadyojyoti (also available with the commentary of Rāmakaṇṭha II, 301.16). The Paramokṣanirāsakārikā of Sadyojyoti refutes the concepts of liberation held by the other schools of thought like Sāṃkhya and Yoga. It is also available with the commentary of Rāmakaṇṭha II, 301.15. On nāda: the Nādakārikā of Rāmakaṇṭha II (also available with Aghoraśivācārya's commentary, 301.11). The author here refutes the sphoṭa theory of the grammarians and establishes the theory of nāda.

On adhvan-s (courses) the Adhvaprakaraṇa (part of the vidyāpāda of the Mṛgendrāgama) is represented by two mss. (301.1-2, the first incomplete).

Five texts deal with the prāsādamantra ("Hauṃ", one of the mantra-s of Śiva). Two among them (329.1 and 345.3, 345.5 being identical with the first) contain the Prāsādaṣaṭślokī, an explanation in six verses of this mantra, such as its parts and their location in the body etc. The first gives the meaning of the mantra in Tamil. The author of this explanation is not known. The second contains only the text of the Prāsādaṣaṭślokī. Aruṇadeva, pupil of Jñānaprakāśaśivācārya, is the author of the Prāsādacandrikā, an exposition of the mantra in Sanskrit. The Prāsādalakṣaṇa (two copies: 345.6 and 371) is another explanation of the same, but in Tamil.

The Śivajñānabodha deals with the knowledge of Śiva (His existence, the individual soul, the ways of attaining Śivahood). This work is represented by five texts in the present volume. 292.4 and 345.2 contain two commentaries in Tamil of unknown authorship. 292.3, Śivajñānabodhopanyāsa, is a brief exposition in Sanskrit of the text by Nigamajñānadeśika. In his Śivajñānasiddhisvapakṣadṛṣṭānta, Nigamajñānadeśika has collected all the illustrations given in the svapakṣa (the exposition of the Śaivasiddhānta) of the Śivajñānasiddhi by Aruḷṇanti which is a commentary in Tamil verse on the Tamil version of the Śivajñānabodha.

The Jñānapūjāvidhi, a part of the vidyāpāda of the Vātulāgama, deals with the procedure of worshipping Śiva and the ācārya through jñāna (knowledge).

The Tirumūlar Vākkiyam contains 30 Tamil verses taken at random from the Tirumantiram of Tirumūlar.

2. To the yogapāda belongs the Śivayogaratna of Jñānaprakāśa of Sri Lanka. It deals with the practice of yoga based on the principles of Śaivism. The Yogasārāvali (with Tamil explanations) is concerned with the kuṇḍalinīyoga. Also śākta are the Ṣaṭcakravivaraṇa by Puṇyānanda and Viśvanātha's Ṣaṭcakravivṛti (a commentary on a portion of the Kaivalyakalikātantra) which deal with the six cakra-s. To the Nātha tradition belongs the Siddhasiddhāntapaddhati of Gorakṣanātha (12th century) in six chapters (upadeśa). From the same tradition: 311.3 which enjoins the recitation of the names of the guru-s of the Nātha cult.

3. To the kriyāpāda belong the texts on architecture and iconography. The definitions of length and other units of measurements are found in 298.7, a part of the Viśvaratna (?). This text also contains an extract on the same topic from a work called Viśvaratnākara. A part (367.3) of the Kashmirian Svacchandabhairava deals with the units of measurements such as mānāṅgula, mātrāṅgula and dehāṅgula. 298.28 contains two chapters of the Aṃśumatkāśyapa, upāgama of the Aṃśumadāgama, one dealing with tālabheda, that is the measurements of the icons, the other with the uttamadaśatāla, that is the ten best ones. 295.3 gives parts of the Mayamata on the construction of pavilions, courts and other parts of the temple complex. The language used here is Sanskrit interspersed with Tamil. This text is stated to be the 25th chapter of the Mayamata but is not traceable to the printed edition (see PIFI n°40.1). The features of the icons (pratimālakṣaṇa) are dealt with in 334.12 which forms part of the Mānasāra according to the colophon but which is not found in the printed text. 298.5 describes the parvata, one among the 96 vimāna-s (see Mayamata, ch. 20, 13a-16a, for this vimāna). 298.6 ("Liṅgamūrtilakṣaṇa", already vol. II, 195.14) describes the forms of various liṅga-s. Other works of this kind are 293.7, 298.22 giving the characteristics of the fire-pit (kuṇḍalakṣaṇa), 298.21 that of the maṇḍapa (maṇḍapalakṣaṇa). 298.29 gives the measurements of the temple (prāsādamānalakṣaṇa).

4. A large number (178) of texts concern rituals and their performance.

4.1. Mantra-s and yantra-s form the basis for the rituals (89 texts).

Those who undertake the rituals are required to receive the mantra-s from competent ācārya-s whose characteristics are treated in 327.12 and 334.24. The procedure for receiving the mantra (mantragrahaṇa) is given in 287.15.

Mantra-s are vedic and non-vedic. For vedic mantra-s see 353.2 and 325.1, for the Rudram and the Camakam, 280.1, 327.3, 280.2 and 353.3. The Puruṣasūkta is given in 280.3. 310.25 and 316.11 contain the Sūryasūkta. 328.5 contains different Vedic sūkta-s to be uttered while waving the lights (nīrājana) before the deity. 325.11 lays the procedure to recite upaniṣadic mantra-s like the mahāvākya "tat tvam asi".

276.7, in Tamil and Sanskrit, gives the mantra-s to be recited daily by a Śaiva (anuṣṭhānamantra-s).The procedure for the recitation of the Ajapāgāyatrīmantra (a gāyatrī for Śaiva deities) appears here under 298.34 (already I, 103.3 and II, 157.6).

Among the mantra-s of Śiva the Śivapañcākṣara is famous: its greatness is described in Tamil in 276.10. And again in 276.15 which states that it has been received by the sage Agastya from Subrahmaṇya. Another form of it is the Māyāpañcākṣara (māyā is a designation of the bījākṣara "hrīṃ"), see 322.11. Another mantra of Śiva is the Vyomavyāpimantra given in 303.2 together with its nāmāvali (the list of its constitutive words).

For mantra-s of Śaiva deities see, for instance, the Uccāṭana-vīrabhadramantra (283.5), and 314.1 for Gaṇapati.

For mantra-s of Devī see 314.6 (Bagalāmukhī), 322.26 (Caṇḍikā-parameśvarī), 322.22 (Dakṣiṇakālī), 316.3 (Indrākṣī), 322.25 (Kāla-rātri), 322.37 (Pratyaṅgirā), 314.5 (Rājamātaṅgī), 322.28 (Saubhāgya-lakṣmī), 374.4 (Tripurasundarī), 314.4 (Vārāhī). 322.7 gives the text of the meditation (dhyāna) to be done before reciting the mantra of Kāmakalā. Śākta too is the Raśmimālāmantra (322.1) used in the Śrīvidyā cult and referring to the All-bright Goddess.

For non-Śaiva deities: 310.17 (Rāma).

Other mantra-s are the Tārakabrahmavidyāmahāmantra (322.14) which enables the aspirant to overcome wordly bondage, the Ṣoḍaśākṣarībrahmavidyāṣaṭkamālāmahāmantra (322.19). The Parikarapañcakādi treats the accessories (japa, dhyāna etc.) for the Śrīvidyāmantra.

Mantra-s of village-deities. 276.21 gives the mantra of Piṭāri in Tamil with some Sanskrit words.

Yantra is a mystical diagram possessing occult powers. It is the symbol of the mantra. 334.21 deals with the dvātriṃśadbhāvana, the meditation on thirty-two yantra-s, each of them representing a form of Śiva. The procedure of worship of the Śrīcakra is given in 283.8. The Cidambarayantra is described in 340.2. Its worship is enjoined in 283.3 and 10, the latter in Tamil.

4.2. Dīkṣā (initiation) is the rite a person has to undergo in order to be qualified for performing the domestic as well as the temple rituals. A competent ācārya is to be approached by the aspirant. The process of initiation is itself complex. It is of various kinds which are described in different texts. 367.1: some general remarks, 344.4: on the proper time for the ritual and other related matters such as the sarvatobhadra and other maṇḍala-s, 282.2: on different kinds of inititation, 282.5: on the procedure for initiating an aspirant into the path of knowledge, 282.9: on the installation of a Śaiva sannyāsin as ācārya (ācāryābhiṣekavidhi), and 347.1: on the rites which are to be carried out while performing initiations like samayadīkṣā, viśeṣadīkṣā and others. The Mātṛdīkṣāvidhi and the Mātṛpūjādhikāra (358.3, parts of Umāyāmala) deal with the initiation for the worship of the Goddess. Brahmacārin-s (celibates) are allowed to worship the deities according to 344.3.

4.3. There are rites which are common to temple and domestic rituals. An example is the nyāsa-s. Nyāsa (literally, placing, applying) is intended for inculcating power into an idol, a person (the performer) or an object. Mantra-s are to be used while performing this rite. In this volume the following nyāsa-s are dealt with: antaścakranyāsa (314.10), aṣṭatriṃśatkalānyāsa (276.6, 285.12, 296.16, 338.7), bahiścakranyāsa (314.11), Bhairavanyāsa (348.2), bhuvananyāsa (311.4, 322.4), catuṣṣaṣṭikalānyāsa (325.12), daśākṣaranyāsa (285.12), devatānyāsa (311.4, 322.4), Gaurīkalānyāsa (285.12, 287.8), Gaurīpañcaviṃśatikalānyāsa (328.7), jīvanyāsa (285.15), karanyāsa (322.4), mahānyāsa (325.2), mahāṣoḍhānyāsa (311.4), mantranyāsa (306, 311.4, 322.4, 334.5), mātṛkānyāsa (279.1, 285.12, 311.4, 322.4), mūrtimūrtīśvaranyāsa (306, 311.4, 322.4), nakṣatranyāsa (358.8), pañcacakranyāsa (322.4), prapañcanyāsa (311.4), ṣaḍadhvanyāsa (285.12, 296.17), Śrīkaṇṭhamātṛkānyāsa (285.12), Śrīkaṇṭhanyāsa (285.15), Subrahmaṇyamātṛkānyāsa (282.20), tattvanyāsa (334.5), tattvatattveśvaranyāsa (306), Vyomavyāpimantranyāsa (334.5).

4.4. Domestic rituals. In the āgama-s and upāgama-s they are normally found in the caryāpāda.

4.4.1. Daily rituals (nityānuṣṭhāna). 334.25 gives an account of the routine work of a priest. Paramānandayogin's Śaivabhūṣaṇa is a manual on the Śaiva rituals. Among the four mss. of this work, all but one contain the Sanskrit text with explanations in Tamil. Śivāgrayogin's Kriyādīpikā and portions of Aghoraśivācārya's Kriyākramadyotikā deal also with these subjects. See also the Śaivānuṣṭhānavidhi (another name of which is Anuṣṭhānavidhi) and the Nityakarmavidhi. Three chapters (279.3) of the Kulārṇavatantra describe the preparation of the kuladravya (a particular kind of offering) and the features of the vessels used for the rituals of the kaula-s. Regarding the kaula daily rituals, see also 320.5 (in Telugu script).

The Anuṣṭhānavidhi and the Śaivasaṃnyāsapaddhati are concerned with the duties of a recluse.

Snāna (ritual bath) is described in the Snānavidhi and is said there to be of 3, 6, 7 and 16 kinds.

353.4 treats the besmearing of the body with the holy ashes and the wearing of the rudrākṣa. On the same subject, the Bhasmadhāraṇavidhi, the Bhasmadhāraṇa, the Rudrākṣavidhi and a part of 334.25.

The rite of saṃdhyā(vandana) to be performed with vedic as well as tantric mantra-s is described in the "Saṃdhyāprayoga" (276.23). This ritual, but only with vedic mantra-s is dealt with in 334.25 together with the prāṇāyāma, a part of this ritual.

Next comes the Brahmayajña: 289.1, also 289.2.

Viśeṣatarpaṇa (satisfying the gods by pouring water) is to be done according to 290.9.

Agnikārya. An ācārya or any one trained and equipped for the purpose, is to perform the homa (oblation) in the sacred fire lit in the kuṇḍa-s (fire-pits). This act is called agnikārya. It is also performed in the temple. The following texts concern this rite in the house as well as in the temple: 297.5 (and again 334.31) a part of Aghoraśiva's Kriyākramadyotikā. This rite is to be performed daily: 276.22. Agnimukha, a preliminary part of the agnikārya consisting in beseeching Agni to face the West and to be ready to receive the oblations, a smārta ritual, is found in 285.7. Another part, jayādi, uttering mantra-s one of which being the word "jaya" for the success of the rite, is dealt with in 285.8 (smārta also).

Dhyāna (meditation on the deity). The meditations on Kārttikeya and on the 16 forms of Gaṇapati are found in the "Kārttikeyadhyāna" and in the "Ṣoḍaśagaṇapatidhyāna". Śloka-s for meditation are given in 327.2, 334.9, 344.9, 350.4, 362.2 etc. 322.18 is concerned with the meditation on the guru-s, as part of the worship of Śrīcakra.

333.1 deals with the daily worship (nityārcana in temple and house).

The worship of the seat (pīṭha) of the deity is dealt with in 276.26 (temple & domestic).

The procedure for the worship of Gaṇapati is given in the Mahāgaṇapatipūjā.

276.5 and 277.3 contain instructions in Tamil for the worship of Śiva (domestic). 285.3 and 328.8 deal respectively with the worship of Śiva in the five enclosures and with that of Śakti in the fifth (temple & domestic). The worship of Tatpuruṣa and Sadyojāta (two of the five manifestations of Śiva) is dealt with in 375.2 and 375.1 (temple & domestic). The worship of Śiva and one's guru through jñāna (that is, mentally) is found in the Jñānapūjāvidhi, The worship of Devī is treated in 375.3 (temple & domestic) and in the Atmārcanavidhi (358.3) (domestic) belonging to the Umāyāmala, that of the Śrīcakra in 283.8, that of Durgā in 288.2 (domestic), that of Lakṣmī in 288.3 (domestic) and that of Gaurī in the Gaurīpūjā (288.5; domestic). The procedure of worshipping Subrahmaṇya (procedure different from that found in the śaivāgama-s) is found in the 282.16, a part of the Śāradātilaka.

The Bhagavadgītāpārāyaṇakrama enjoins the daily reading of the Bhagavadgītā.

4.4.2. Occasional (naimittika) rituals.

Saṃskāra-s (purificatory ceremonies). The Śaivaṣoḍaśakriyā attributed to Aghoraśivācārya deals with sixteen saṃskāra-s. 298.30 describes among other subjects 3 saṃskāra-s: ṛtusaṃgamana, puṃsavana, sīmantonnayana. Jātakarman, the rite performed immediately after the birth of a child, is described in 287.3. A part of the preceding is the jātakarmahoma: 287.4.

Antyeṣṭi (funeral rites). The cūrṇotsava dealt with in two texts of that name (already described 188.2, vol. II) is a part of it.

Puṇyāha (purification of the place) as a domestic occasional ritual is enjoined in 280.8.

Darśatarpaṇa (propitiating the Manes) is dealt with in 280.10.

The preparation of the madhuparka (what is to be offered to a guest) is described in 290.7.

The Ṣaṣṭyabdapūrtiśānti describes the rite of that name performed to repel the evil forces when a person completes his 60th year. Other domestic śānti-s (rites aimed at avoiding or mitigating the evil effects of certain occurrences; some are related to the temple rituals, see below p. IX): gṛhaśānti (purification of the house): 365.1 attributed to Bodhāyana, nālaveṣṭanaśānti (in the case of the birth of a child with the umbilical cord around the neck): 365.2, Tvaṣṭṛśānti (in the case of a child born on the Citrānakṣatra day): 365.3, Puṣyapūrvāṣaḍhādigaṇḍāntaśānti (in the case of a child born on the Puṣyanakṣatra day etc.): 365.4, Mūlānakṣatraśānti (on the Mūlānakṣatra day): 365.10, Rohiṇīnakṣatraśānti (on the Rohiṇīnakṣatra day): 365.12, Jyeṣṭhānakṣatraśānti (on the Jyeṣṭhānakṣatra day): 365.15, Āśleṣānakṣatraśānti (on the Āśleṣānakṣatra day): 365.18, Kuhūśānti (on a new-moon day): 298.43, 365.14, Amāvāsyāyāṃ jananaśānti (on a new-moon day): 365.21, Mandavārajanmanakṣatraśānti (when one's birth nakṣatra falls on a Saturday): 365.22, Viṣanāḍījātāriṣṭaśānti (on an inauspicious period of the day): 365.23, prasūtiśānti (against the evils which may happen at the time of the birth of a child): 310.3, Dhaniṣṭhāpañcakaśānti (against the evil effects of the death of a person on Dhaniṣṭhā (= Śraviṣṭhā) and four more nakṣatra-s following that nakṣatra): 365.6, grahaṇaśānti (to ward off the evil effects of an eclipse): 365.9, 365.11, āyuṣyahoma (oblations for the longevity of a person): 365.8, sarpaśānti (overcoming the evil effects of the killing of a serpent): 365.7, gaulīpatanaśānti (against the evil effects of a lizard falling on a person): 365.13, kṛkalāsaśānti (against the evil effects of a chameleon falling on a person): 365.16, ulūkaśānti (against the evil effects of an owl entering the house): 365.17, gṛdhraśānti (against the evil effects of a vulture sitting on a house): 365.24, narapatanaśānti (against the evil effects of a man falling on another when sleepy): 365.19.

Vrata-s (observances) are dealt with in the Varalakṣmīpūjā, Śivarātrivrata, Anantavratapūjā and Kedāravrata.

4.5. Āśauca (pollution). The Āśaucasaṃgraha (this title in the margin) gives a brief account of the circumstances which cause pollution.

Prāyaścitta-s (atonements) are treated by Trilocanaśivācārya in the Prāyaścittasamuccaya. The expiations concern lapses while performing temple or domestic rituals. 298.16 ("Naramṛtaprāyaścittavidhi") treats the atonements for the death of a person in the temple.

4.6. Temple rituals. The site, where the construction of a temple or any sacred building is to be undertaken, is called vāstu, and the deity presiding over it, vāstupuruṣa. These matters are dealt with in different texts: see 285.16, 296.6, 361.3 and 366.8. The "Vāstupūcai-ccurukkam", in Tamil, contains a brief treatment of the worship of the vāstu. Vāstuśānti (290.16) is the rite which is intended to drive away evil forces that are likely to be present on the site.

4.6.1. Pratiṣṭhā (installation) of the idol is elaborately described in the āgama-s: see the bundle n°324 with its 39 texts.

The list of the different rites composing the pratiṣṭhā is available in 290.3 and 340.6 (the last again under 364.6); see also 305.1.

Ratnanyāsa consisting in the placing of gems in a box and lowering it into a pit where the garbhagṛha is to be built, is treated in 290.12.

Mṛtsaṃgrahaṇa (collecting earth) and aṅkurārpaṇa (sowing seeds) are preliminary rites. They are dealt with in 285.17, 290.17, 290.18, 296.9 and 296.18.

Nayanonmīlana (litt. opening the eyes, actually carving the eye balls of a new idol) is treated in the text of the same name (290.13).

Nyāsa-s are performed: see above p. V.

Prāṇapratiṣṭhā designates the act of inculcating divinity into an idol: see the text of that title, as also the Prāṇapratiṣṭhāmantra and the Prāṇapratiṣṭhāvidhi.

The culminating rite of the installation is the saṃprokṣaṇa, the pouring of consecrated water on the deities and on the kalaśa-s (finials) of their vimāna-s (superstructures). The related texts bear the titles Saṃprokṣaṇavidhi and Harmyasaṃprokṣaṇavidhi.

Mūrtihoma (290.20) and Śāntihoma (285.20) remedy the evil effects caused by lapses while performing the ritual of installation (or any general ritualistic act).

As far as the installation of the different deities is concerned, Śiva and his different forms: Aghora (296.24), Ardhanarīśvara (324.15), Balināyaka (324.27), Caṇḍeśa (324.18), Candraśekhara (324.11), Dakṣiṇāmūrti (324.12), Gaṅgādhara (324.18), Haryardha (324.15), Jvaradeva (324.24), Kālanigraha (324.21), Kaṅkālamūrti (324. 15), Kṣetrapāla (324.19), Nṛttamūrti (324.16), Sadāśiva (324.9), Sakala (324.25), Saṃhāramūrti (324.20), Somaśrīviṣṇupadmaja (324.18) Someśa (324.13), Sṛṣṭimūrti (324.20), Sthitimūrti (324.20), Tripurāri (324.15), Umāskanda (324.13, 332.4 and 9), Vīrabhadra (324.22), Vṛṣārūḍha (324.14). For a liṅga: 324.5, 334.6, a ratnaliṅga: 324.33, a calaliṅga: 324.32, a liṅgodbhava: 324.10. For the installation of any representation of Śiva drawn or made of wood etc. (citrabera) see 324.34. Saiva deities: Gaṇeśa (340.8, by Akhilāṇḍapaṇḍita), Vighneśa (324.3), Ṣoḍaśavighneśvara, the 16 forms of Gaṇeśa (324.4), Skanda (324.8). Devī: 361.2, Gaurī: 324.7, Bhadrakālī and Mahāmārī: 349.3 and 285.33 (parts of the Rudrayāmala), the Saptamātṛ: 304.1, 358.2. Other deities. Brahma: 324.18, Sūrya: 324.1, Candra: 324.2, Śāstṛ: 324.23. The idols of the 63 Tamil Śaiva saints called Nāyanmār-s are installed as described in 298.41. The installation of the lower pedestal of the liṅga (piṇḍikā) is dealt with in 324.6. For the sandals (pādukā-s) of Śiva see 324.34, for the weapons of the gods 324.17 and 35 (the śūla, the trident of Śiva), 324.36 (the śaktyastra, the weapon of Subrahmaṇya), for their vāhana-s 324.37 (vṛṣabha), 324.38 (the elephant and the peacock of Subrahmaṇya), for their vimāna-s (superstructures) 324.26 (Śiva), 324.26 (Devī), 324.26 (the Sarvadeva-s), for their flagstaffs (dhvaja-s) 324.29 (Śiva), 324.30 (Gaurī), 324.31 (Subrahmaṇya). For the installation of a balipītha (the pedestal on which the bali-s, offerings mostly in the form of rice-balls are offered) see 324.28. The Taṭākapratiṣṭhāvidhi (298.19) affirms the greatness of digging a tank and lays down the rituals connected with its formal consecration.

Ten texts concern the maṇḍapapūjā in general (285.5, 285.30, 293.5, 296.33, 305.6, 307.6 (in a brief manner), 329.3, 334.30, 349.4, 366.3 & 373.1), one a maṇḍapa dedicated to Śiva (296.11), two a maṇḍapa dedicated to Vighneśvara (285.28, 296.20), three a maṇḍapa dedicated to Subrahmaṇya (285.26, 285.27 and 296.19), three a maṇḍapa dedicated to Devī (296.18, 307.5 and 337.1), one a maṇḍapa dedicated to Gaurī (285.25), two a maṇḍapa dedicated to Māriyamman (293.8, 297.6).

When the temple structure or any part of it, or the idol, falls into disrepair they have to be repaired. This ritual is called jīrṇoddhāra. Three texts: the Jīrṇoddhāradaśaka by Nigamajñānadeva with a commentary of unknown authorship, 305.5 and 305.8.

When the main shrine is being repaired a temporary one (bālālaya) with a temporary icon is built for the daily worship: see 298.14.

The kalāśakti (power) of the deity in the old shrine is drawn into the consecrated water of a pitcher. This pitcher is brought in a procession from the garbhagṛha to the yāgamaṇḍapa. The homa performed on this occasion is called yātrāhoma: 290.23.

Jaṭibandhana is the name of the act of glueing an idol (mostly an utsavabera, an idol carried in procession) on a pedestal. This is treated in 334.15 of the same name.

When the pedestal on which the main idol stands is broken or comes loose, it is to be set right by undertaking the ritual called aṣṭa-bandhana which consists in cementing the space between it and the idol with powdered soft cotton, ghee of buffalo's milk, granules of sand, lac, beeswax resin, decoction of red ochre, pebbles and jaggery. This topic is dealt with in the Aṣṭabandhanavidhi, a chapter of the Sahasrāgama and in two texts from the Sūkṣmāgama: Aṣṭabandhanavidhi and Aṣṭabandhanaprayogakramavivaraṇa. On this occasion, an oblation is to be poured on the fire: this is the subject of 287.2.

4.6.2. Daily worship (nityārcana) is to be performed for the deity installed.

Puṇyāha (the initial purificatory rite, also a domestic ritual) before the worship of Bhadrakālī and the Goddess is dealt with in two texts of the Rudrayāmala (349.2).

Snapana is the bath given to the deity every day during the worship (and also on specific occasions). Water is collected in pitchers (kalaśa-s) together with specified roots, darbha grass and rice. It is sanctified by the utterance of mantra-s which are given in 296.13 and in the Sahasrakalaśasnapanavidhi. The number of pitchers may vary from 25 to 1008. The elaborate bath (mahābhiṣeka) of the deity is dealt with in 296.15.

Pūjā or arcana (worship). Most of the texts concern the temple as well as the house, see above p. VII. To these can be added the Puṣpavidhi (331.6) and the quotations (332.7) from the Cintya°, the Aṃśumad° and the Kiraṇāgama which affirm the greatness of using bilva leaves in the worship of Śiva. Relating only to the temple: 348.1 (part of the Sakalāgamasaṃgraha) on Bhairava's worship, 285.11 giving the mantra-s for the worship of the tattva-s and of the tattveśvara-s. For the worship of a village-goddess see 293.9: worship of Haṅkāḷī, that is Aṅkāḷamman.

Dhyāna (meditation). See above p. VII. Relating only to temple worship: the meditations on Kṣetrapāla, the vṛṣabha, the balipīṭha (the stone on which daily offerings are placed) found in 327.7, on the Saptamātṛ and on the Vidyeśvara-s, respectively in 334.9 and 350.4.

Agnikārya. Relating only to the temple are Vināyakabhaṭṭa's Agnimukha (285.6 and 296.12, a part of his Agnikārya for which see vol. II, 118.9), 278.14, 293.6, 366.10. For other texts on this rite concerning the temple as well as the house, see above p. VI.

4.6.3. Utsava-s (festivals). The Bhauvanotsava (attributed to the Kāmika) deals with one of the nine kinds of festivals.

A number of texts treat the annual festivals: see for instance the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 9 and 14 of the bundle 294, and also 300.4, 307.3, 331.1, 357.4 under the titles Utsava° or Mahotsavavidhi and 366.9 ("Utsavapaddhati"). The "Paścimotsavavidhi" treats the case of a temple the main gate of which faces the West.

As far as the deities are concerned, the festival of Śiva is the subject of 294.5 (from the Dīpta°), 294.7 (from the Suprabheda°), 294.10 (from the Makuṭāgama), 294.11 (from the Śrīmukhatantra), 294.12 (from the Siddhatantra), 294.13 (from the Vātulāgama) and 337.7. For Skanda see 298.10 (Skandotsavavidhi, from the upāgama Nārasiṃha) and 347.3, incomplete, making reference to the deity in a temple at Madurai. For Devī: 328.10 and 13 (Āṣāḍhapūravidhi from the Svāyambhuvāgama), Gaurī: 350.1, Kālī: 330.1 (Kālyutsavavidhi from the Rudrayāmala).

Rites forming part of these festivals are the subject-matter of a certain number of texts. Grāmaśānti: 300.2. Mṛtsaṃgrahaṇavidhi (see above, p. IX): 357.3. For Dhvajārohaṇa (hoisting the flag) see above p. X for its installation. Utsavakaṭṭiya (eulogistic phrases) describing the various deeds of the deity, to be recited when the image is kept in a decorated maṇḍapa in the temple: 318.1. Bherītāḍana (beating the kettle-drum announcing the commencement of the great festival): 289.3, 307.1, 338.6. Devatāvāhana (propitiating different gods so that they will be present on this occasion): 289.4, 327.4. Sandhyāvāhana (propitiating the deities of the quarters): 289.5, 327.5, 338.2, 338.9, 357.1, 373.2 and 373.3. Bhadrakālīsandhyāvāhana (same for Bhadrakālī): 337.8. Devīmaṇḍapapūjā: 307.5. Maṇḍapapūjā: 329.3. Utsavabali (offerings to the guardians of the eight quarters, to Brahmā and Viṣṇu and to other deities): 334.32. The Aṅgārabali, part of the Rudrayāmala, describes the offering of the flesh of an animal after it has been baked with fire, this in the case of the festival of the Goddess, for instance Bhadrakālī. Devītapas (the penance of Pārvatī in order to marry Śiva): 328.14. Ūṭal (the feigned estrangement - praṇayakalaha in Sanskrit - between Śiva and Pārvatī): 329.4 (Tiruūṭal, in Tamil). Vivāha (marriage of the divine couple): 350.2. See also Kalyāṇakarmavidhi (340.7, 344.8). Ḍolotsava (placing the god and the goddess on a swing): 298.9. Jalakrīḍā (the god and the goddess are placed on a boat in the tank): 298.8. Paṇimālā (the deities present are requested to be favourable to the people; this request is in the form of collections of verses in Sanskrit interspersed with Tamil): 338.1, 338.4, 346.1, 357.2. Āśīrvāda-s (benedictions in the form of long phrases for the well-being of the people of the locality, in Tamil and Sanskrit mixed): 327.9-10, 332.8, 338.5, 356.1. Prāyaścitta-s (expiations for the lapses that have occurred during the festival): 294.14-16, 298.13, 307.4.

Some of the texts are related to definite places: 331.1 to Tiruppunturutti near Thiruvaiyaru in the Thanjavur district, 333.2 to Tirucculi in the Ramanathapuram district. 338.1 (Paṇimālā) contains verses in praise of Tirumēninātha, the presiding deity of the same place.

357.4 ends with a group of five verses (the first four in Sanskrit, the last in Tamil) addressed to Śiva in the Pandya country, perhaps at Madurai. See also 347.3 linked with the festival of Skanda at the same place.

5. Devotional texts. All kinds of stotra-s[4]. For Śiva as such: 28 texts (282.15 (Tamil), 286.18, 286.19, 286.27, 314,18, 319, 320.4, 325.3, 325.6, 325.7, 325.8, 325.13, 327.13, 327.14, 327.19, 328.16, 350,3, 343.12, 286.1, 286.34, 278.4, 280.4, 286.28, 310.15, 314.12, 335.1, 339.3, 343.2); as Dakṣiṇāmūrti: six (287.5, 323.4, 286.16, 276.3, 278.7, 363.30); as Viśveśvara or Viśvanātha: three (310.18, 318.3, 325.9); as Bhairava: two (354, 363.4); as Kṣetrapāla (a form of Bhairava): one (375.11); as Candraśekhara: two (286.26, 375.4); as Cidambareśa or Cidambara: two (331.4, 375.7); as Naṭeśa: two (331.8, 363.9); as Aṇḍābharaṇa: one (355.3); as Bhāskareśa: one (356.5); as Maheśvara: one (310.8); as Rudra: one (327.6); as Śaṅkara: one (353.7); as Gaurīśaṅkara: one (372.3). We find two nāmāvali-s (331.7 and 343.1) for Śiva and Devī together (saṃmelana), one (307.10) for the Aṣṭavidyeśvara (the eight attendants of the God) and one (375.5) for his bull (vṛṣabha).

For Subrahmaṇya as such: 17 (282.21, 282.22, 321.6, 278.2, 282.18, 282.23, 321.7, 321.12, 346.3, 339.2, 343.7, 346.2, 363.22, 363.26, 363.27, 363.29, 372.5); as Guha: one (353.8); as Skanda: one (282.19). Vallīnāyakī, spouse of Subrahmaṇya: one (375.6). Hiḍimba, son of the same god: one (321.11).

For Gaṇeśa or Gaṇapati as such: six (320.1, 286.30, 310.9, 278.1, 338.11, 372.4); as Vināyaka: five (321.1, 339.7, 280.5, 339.6, 338.12); as Vighneśa: one (334.8), as Mūṣikavināyaka: one (342.1); as Vakratuṇḍa: one (321.2).

62 texts are devoted to Devī. Devī as such: 14 (286.4, 286.8, 286.12, 286.13, 286.20, 286.25, 286.9, 329.42, 343.8, 343.10, 346.4, 372.6, 372.7, 373.4), as Lalitā: eight (310.7, 322.30, 322.43, 279.4, 279.5, 291.6, 291.7, 339.4), as Tripurā or Tripurasundarī: seven (279.6, 286.5, 286.11, 291.2, 312.2, 321.4, 325.4), as Gaurī: four (313.1 in Telugu, 286.2, 278.11, 375.8), as Lakṣmī: four (286.10,

4. The stotra-s contained in this volume are of different kinds. Some are designated by the number of verses they contain: aṣṭaka-s (made of eight verses), daśaka-s (made of ten verses), by the metre in which they are composed: daṇḍaka. Some are in prose (gadya). Some are named according to their purpose: kavaca-s and pañjara-s (literally "armour" and "cage" for protecting the devotee from head to foot). Two other groups are those of the nāmastotra-s and of the nāmāvali-s which contain either 108 or 1008 names of the deity concerned; in the nāmāvali-s the name is to be uttered separately, in the dative case, with the praṇava (om) prefixed and the word namaḥ following it.

321.5, 322.31, 363.25), as Bālā: three (328.15, 343.11, 363.13), as Kāmākṣī: three (312.1, 312.3, 312.2), as Ambā: two (286.3, 286.24), as Durgā: two (286.31, 363.12), as Gāyatrī: two (286.6, 286.7), as Mīnākṣī: two (356.4, 372.9), as Sarasvatī: two (342.2, 363.1), as Śyāmalā: two (363.5, 372.8), as Bhadrakālī: one (363.7), as Bhuvaneśvarī: one (363.11), as Indrākṣī: one (280.6), as Kiṅkinī: one (322.6), as Rājarājeśvarī: one (363.24), as Śivakāmī: one (363.10), as Śūlinī: one (363.3).

Among the other deities an important place is taken by the Planets (Graha). The nine together (navagraha) figure in three texts: 286.33, 310.26, 318.5; Sūrya or Āditya or Bhāskara nine texts: 310.21, 278.5, 310.13, 310.23, 310.24, 316.10, 363.2, 363.8, 375.9; Saneśvara eight: 310.1, 310.4, 317.5, 310.2, 335.4, 355.2, 355.4, 363.21; Aṅgāraka four: 276.2, 278.8, 276.1, 278.6; Candra one: 316.12. Two texts (310.14, 310.22) for Aruṇa as the charioteer of the Sun, and two (310.12, 310.20) for Chāyā, the spouse of the same god.

Viṣṇu as such, one text: 363.18, as Narasiṃha, two: 363.15, 363.16, as Govinda, one: 327.18, as Kṛṣṇa, one: 355.1. The weapons of Viṣṇu are represented by two texts: 321.3, 363.14, Garuḍa by three: 276.4, 278.10, 278.9, Rāma by four: 313.7, 327.16, 286.32, 365.26, Śāstṛ or Hariharasuta by four: 321.9, 321.10, 321.8, 363.6, Gaṅgā by one: 325.5.

Four stotra-s praise the sandals of the guru: 315.2, 320.3, the ātman: 310.6, and the Vedānta: 356.6. The stotra called Vīrāvalī-pañcaka praises the five groups of teachers of the Śākta cult.

6. On jyotiṣa, the following texts are available. The Kālaprakāśikā and Kālavidhāna (both complete and the second with an anonymous commentary) deal with all the topics as does 358.1. The Nakṣatra-nighaṇṭu is a lexicon for the various constellations.

On the measurement of time (kālapramāṇa) see 325.14 (in Maṇipravāla).

On fixing the proper time (muhūrtanirṇaya). For different rituals: 285.29, 298.1, 334.34 (for domestic and temple rituals), 296.1 (for temple rituals), 285.2 (for installations), 332.11 (id.), 344.6 (id.), 276.16 (id., in Tamil), 305.4 (for the suitable day for the ritual bath, avabhṛtha). 333.3 shows how to avoid doubts that arise while fixing the day for undertaking pilgrimage. 276.25 gives, in Tamil, the guidelines for fixing the time for the same purpose.

7. On prognostication (ārūṭam) are the Tamil texts 276.17 giving the results of the sounds made by the lizard, 276.18, the results of the sounds made by the lizard and by sneezing. 276.19, also in Tamil, lists the effects of throbbing in the various parts of the body.

8. Some texts are of a more literary type.

Māhātmya-s. On holy places: Hālāsyamāhātmya (Hālāsya is Madurai) and Kāśīmāhātmya (in Telugu script). The Devīmāhātmya (said to be part of the Mārkaṇḍeyapurāṇa) gives legends of Devī.

The Tamil text Vīpūtimānmiyaccarukkam extols the greatness of sacred ashes.

The Gāyatrīrāmāyaṇa narrates the Rāmāyaṇa in 24 śloka-s (the Gāyatrīmantra is made of 24 syllables).

The Tīrthayātrātattva (278.13) recommends pilgrimage for the absolution of the sins; Dharmopadeśa (359) is said to be a part of the Brahmottarakhaṇḍa.

Didactic verses. 286.29 (Nītiśloka), 327.8 which contains 65 śloka-s and 334.33.

In Tamil: Nālaṭiyār (276.12), a collection of moral verses from the end of the Sangam period, Nītiveṇpā (276.14) also moral verses from the Mediaeval period, Kapilarakaval (276.11), a pamphlet against caste and brahmins, of uncertain date, Tanippāṭaṟṟaṭṭu (276.13), a collection of single poems from all periods.

282.1 KRIYĀDĪPIKĀ
by Śivāgrayogin

This text contains the Kriyādīpikā of Śivāgrayogin (16th century). It contains eight chapters called paṭala-s. The second chapter breaks off at the end and the third has no beginning, as the fols. 55 to 65, where these are fully treated, are missing. Ch. 4. which ends on fol. 11b does not have the colophon. Similar is the case with ch. 5 on fol. 115a. Ch. 6 which ends on fol. 117a is wrongly stated as ch. 5. Similarly ch. 7 which ends on fol. 130b is wrongly stated as ch. 6. This text has close agreement with the printed edition in Grantha. Madras 1929.

282.4 KRIYĀKRAMADYOTIKĀ
by Aghoraśivācārya

Similar to n° 273.2.

This text contains the Pratiṣṭhāvidhi portion of Aghoraśivācārya's Kriyākramadyotikā. Fol. 148a contains the ending portion of the Antyeṣṭividhi in the first four lines. This folio which is numbered as 86 in the margin marks the beginning of this text indicating that the previous fols. which are lost here must have contained the other portions of the Kriyākramadyotikā ending almost up to the concluding portion of the Antyeṣṭividhi. The portion contained in this text on this topic does not agree with that in the printed edns. Fols. 148a-156a deal with Śilānyāsavidhi which does not have full agreement with the portion in the printed edn. (SIAA). Fols. 156a-180a contain the treatment of Śivaliṅgapratiṣṭhāvidhi which agrees partially with that in the printed edn. Then follow the treatment of Dvārapratiṣṭhāvidhi and others (fols. 180a-184b), Jīrṇoddhāra (184b-187b), Gaurīpratiṣṭhā (187b-189a), Gaṇapatipratiṣṭhā (189a-189b), Dakṣiṇāmūrtipratiṣṭhā, Viṣṇupratiṣṭhā, Bhaktapratiṣṭhā, Mānuṣapratiṣṭhā (189b-192b) & Samprokṣaṇa (192b-196a). Treatment of the topics in fols. 180a-196a are of the nature of gloss and must be based on the work of Aghoraśivācārya.

284.2 JĪRṆODDHĀRADAŚAKA
by Nigamajñānadeva

With commentary up to the end of 2nd pariccheda.

This contains the complete text of the Jīrṇoddhāradaśaka and its commentary. Jīrṇoddhāradaśaka is the same as n° 4.2. The name of the author of the commentary is not given in the text. In the N.C.C. VII. pp. 284 also there is only the mention of the commentary and not the name of the author. The commentary is very elaborate.

284.3 PRADOṢANIRṆAYA

Similar to n° 75.5.

This text contains arguments and quotations from the Āgama-s to determine the Pradoṣa - the thirteenth day of both the bright and dark halves of the month. The text briefly discusses about the exact time of the worship, etc., of Śiva to be done on that day. The author's name is not given. Since there is no colophon to be found, the text seems to be incomplete.

Beginning

284.4 KĀLAVIDHĀNA

With commentary.

This contains the complete text of the Kālavidhāna, a work on the fixation of the exact time of various domestic rites and its commentary. The names of the authors of neither the work nor the commentary is given in the text. This text seems to be different from many works of this name mentioned in N.C.C. Vol. IV. pp. 35-36. It may be similar to the Kālavidhānapaddhati by Trivikramabhaṭṭa as mentioned in N.C.C. (ibid.). The text contains 175 verses.

286.1 ĀḺVĀRDAŚAKA

This text has twelve verses in praise of Siva. From the account given in the 11th & 12th verses, the author may be taken to be Haradatta, who, born in a Vaiṣṇava family, established the superiority of Śiva over all other gods. According to the Descriptive Catalogue of Tamil Manuscripts in Dr. U.V. Swaminathaiyar Library, Vol. II, pp. 30-31, Haradatta is also known as Kañcanūr Āḻvār. Probably these verses are composed by him and hence the name of the text. Some verses are found in Daśaślokīstuti. (Vide: Complete Works of Śaṃkarācārya, Vol. I. pp. 92-94, Samata Books, Madras 1981.

287.13 KĀRAṆĀGAMA (UTTARA)

This text contains the following paṭala-s, which according to the colophons, form part of the Kāraṇāgama (uttara): - 1. Fol. 175a-176b: ch. 86. Dvārapāla–pratiṣṭhāvidhi; 2. 176b-177b: ch. 87. Vṛṣabhapratiṣṭhāvidhi; 3. 177b-178a: ch. 88. Balipīṭhapratiṣṭhāvidhi; 4. 178a-179a: ch. 89. Bhadraliṅgapratiṣṭhāvidhi; 5. 179a-181a: ch. 101. Śivabhaktapratiṣṭhāvidhi; 6. 181a-182b: Kūpapratiṣṭhāvidhi; 7.

182b-183b: Taṭākapratiṣṭhāvidhi; 8. 183b-184b: ch. 102: Dhvajasthāpanavidhi; 9. 184b-185b: ch. 103. Udyānalakṣaṇavidhi; 10. 185b-189b: Snapanapūjādidravyāṇi; 11. 194a-200a: Nityaprāyaścittavidhi; 12. 200a-202b: Śatopacāravidhi; 13. 202b-204b: Muktilakṣaṇa; 14. 204b-205a: Prāyaścittavidhi; 15. 205: Mukhaliṅga-pratiṣṭhā; 16. 205b-207a: Śmaśānaliṅgasthāpanavidhi; 17. 207a:Pacanālayapratiṣṭhā; 18. 207b-209a: Indrādisthāpanavidhi; 19. 209a-211a: Vāstunirṇaya.

This text contains 19 chapters from the Kāraṇāgama (uttara). Of these, except ch. 86, 87, 88, 89, 101, 102, & 103, the other twelve chapters are not traceable to the printed edn. of the Uttarakāraṇāgama (CP). The topic Snapanapūjādidravyāṇi contains śloka-s, which form part of the Kāraṇāgama but they are not arranged to form part of any particular chapter. Fols. 190-193 intervene the chapters of the Kāraṇāgama, treating mudrā and other topics. But for these four fols., there is continuity among the fols. There are seven lines in fol. 211 a & b which contain dhyānaśloka-s on some divine forms.

Pratiṣṭhāvidhi

R.E. 15.540. PL.; 82 fols.; 248 x 41 mms.; 9-11 lines; fairly good condition; Grantha; old.
Missing fols.: 31 (acc. to marginal writing) between fols.58 & 59; 40 (ibid) between fols.68 & 69.
Blank fols.: 80b; 81b; 82b.

This Ms. contains 23 texts, most of which are in verse. The texts with nos. 5, 7, and 9-24 are addressed to Guha. However the name Guha or Skanda does not occur in nos. 18, 20 & 24 but are evidently addressed to this deity on fol. 30b as 'Guha' and as is borne out by the address 'vatsa'. Also the texts 11 & 12, 14 & 15, & 20 & 21 are interrelated in as much as one in each of these groups refers to the matter dealt with in the other. In all likelihood, the texts 5-23 form part of some Āgama but the identity of the Āgama cannot be ascertained.

The texts which begin on fol. 37a and bear the nos. 5-23 are in all probability the condensed versions of the topics taken from various Āgama-s. All these are related to Pratiṣṭhā. Invariably, they are addressed to Ṣaṇmukha and may therefore belong to the Kālottarāgama. Vide: pratiṣṭhānukramaṃ vakṣye saṅgṛhya sakalāgamān (fol.1).

General contents

1. Fol. 1a-27b: Sahasratantra: Aṣṭabandhanavidhi; 2. 28a-30b: Āvartādipratiṣṭhāvidhi; 3. 31a-34b: Pratiṣṭhānukramaṇī; 4. 35b-36b: Devapūjā; 5. 37a-38a: Vighneśvarapūjana; 6. 38a-40b: Dravyavibhāgakrama; 7. 40b-41a: Madhuparkakrama; 8. 41a-42a: Snānavidhi; 9. 42a-43a: Viśeṣatarpaṇa; 10. 44: Praveśabali; 11. 44b-46a: Grāmaśāntividhi; 12. 46a-47a: Ratnanyāsavidhi; 13. 47a-48a: Nayanonmīlana; 14. 50a-53a: Pratiṣṭhāvidhi; 15. 53a-59a: Yāgavidhi; 16. 59a-62a: Vāstuśānti; 17. 62b-63b: Mṛttikāsaṅgraha; 18. 64a-65b: Aṅkurārpaṇa; 19. 65b-66b: Rakṣābandhana; 20. 70b-71b: Mūrtihoma; 21. 71b-72a: Nāḍīsandhānahoma; 22. 72b-73b: Ākarṣaṇavidhi; 23. 73b-74a: Yātrāhoma; 24. 75a-80a: Yāgapūjāvidhi.

There are two fols. with nos. 14 and 49 written in the margin. They are not, in any way, connected with any text in this Ms. Of these, fol. 49a deals with Prasannapūjā and fol. 49b with Kumbhālaṅkāra. Fol. 43b & 44a contain a brief treatment of Rakṣoghna. Fol. 48a-50a deal with Bimbaśuddhi, Jalādhivāsa, Dhānyādhivāsa, Pīṭhasthāpana, Jaṭibandhana and Bimbasthāpana; 69a-70a treat Śivakumbha and Kūrcalakṣaṇa; 74a-75a treat Yātrādānā.

292.1 ŚATARATNASAṂGRAHA
by Umāpatiśivācārya

This text contains the Śataratnasaṅgraha of Umāpati Śivācārya with a commentary in Tamil. Umāpati Śivācārya is the compiler of verses from the Śaiva Āgama-s like Mataṅga, Mṛgendra, Kiraṇa and others. The work is in 100 sūtra-s in Sanskrit embodying this treatment. (the śloka-s contain the best treatment of these topics and hence the title). The authorship of the Tamil commentary is not known. For further information, see note on Ms. n° 8197, Tanjore Library. This text with his own commentary has been published in Tantric texts, Calcutta 1922 and the text with a Tamil translation has been published by TSM Library 1976, and with an English translation by the Madras University.

DĪPTĀGAMA
Śivotsavavidhi

This text contains the treatment of Śivotsavavidhi in 15 paṭala-s which are known from the colophons as forming part of the Dīptāgama, the 6th Mūlāgama. There are nine T. Mss. with Nos. 15, 147, 257B, 513, 929, 1006, 1008, 1018 & 1024. This text has agreement with T. 1018. T. 1024 does not deal with the topic Śivotsavavidhi. T. 513 has the Ch. 60 & 61 dealing with the subjects, 1 & 2 (given in the contents) and an incomplete Ch. 3. All others do not treat yāgamaṇḍapa-lakṣaṇa. There is a chapter named Utsavatīrthādhivāsavidhi between Ch. 12 and 13 treated in T. 15, 257B & 1008. The paṭala-s in T. 147, 257B, 929, & 1008 are numbered but there is no uniformity, as one or two paṭala-s are not numbered. Though this text and all other T.Mss. treat the same topic, there is no agreement in the extant text of some chapters between this text and the T.Mss.

SŪKṢMĀGAMA
Utsavavidhi

This text contains the treatment of the annual festival according to the Sūkṣmāgama, the 7th Mūlāgama. This bears close resemblance to the treatment of this topic in T.Mss. n° 38, 348, 967 &1016. This topic is numbered as ch. 14 in T. 348 and 967. T. 97 contains an incomplete treatment in two different places on pp. 37-38 & pp. 106-109 numbering the ch. as 13th. Similarly, T. 955 has the treatment in pp. 8-12 & 146-151, both almost the same but incomplete. T. 1003 has a different version of this topic with slight agreement in some places. There are however variant readings in all these Mss.

294.7 SUPRABHEDA
Śivotsavavidhi

This text contains the treatment of the procedure for conducting the festival for Śiva, evidently the annual festival. According to the colophon this forms part of the Suprabheda Āgama, the 10th Mūlāgama. It is stated here that it is paṭala 11. This agrees well with Ch. 14 of the Kriyāpāda. Printed text - Grantha CP. 1908.

294.8 VĪRĀGAMA

Utsavavidhi

This text contains the treatment of the annual festival according to the Vīrāgama, the 15th Mūlāgama. There is no division of this into paṭala-s numbering of which is not found in all T. Mss. and which is not uniform where the number is mentioned. The colophons are many. There are six Mss. (IFI) with Nos. 29, 30, 31, 104, 156, & 921. T. 29 begins with Dhvajārohaṇa and ends with Dhvajāvarohaṇa marking the nos. of the paṭala-s from 44 to 51. T. 30 takes the topics (see below) 1-3 together marking the paṭala as 44. Topics 4 to 10 are marked with the nos. 45 to 51. T. 31 has paṭala-s 15 to 18 dealing with the topics 1-4. T. 104 does not have any division of the paṭala-s, nor is there any colophon except at the end. The treatment however is complete in pp. 289-339 with several changes in the śloka-s and their readings. T. 156 does not have much agreement with the text under notice, nor does it have the division into paṭala-s. The treatment is available in pp. 103-168. T. 921 covers the contents of the utsava in pp. 71-116 but has no division of the text into paṭala-s and is in a way similar to T. 156. The colophon at the end has the last paṭala numbered as 45.

294.9 RAURAVĀGAMA
Mahotsavavidhi

This text treats Mahotsavavidhi according to the Rauravāgama, the 16th Mūlāgama. The treatment of Aṅkurārpaṇavidhi precedes the treatment of Mahotsavavidhi. The paṭala-s are only two, the former dealing with Aṅkurārpaṇavidhi and the latter with Mahotsavavidhi. The latter does not have any internal division. Both the paṭala-s have full agreement with the paṭala-s 17 & 18 of printed edn. IFI. No 18-1.

294.10 MAKUṬĀGAMA
Śivotsavavidhi

This text contains the treatment of the Śivotsavavidhi according to the Makuṭāgama the 17th Mūlāgama. This is evidenced by the colophon on fol. 108b. This is not in print. There are seven Mss. of the Makuṭāgama treating this topic, T. 18, 19, 20, 77, 159 239 & 248. Among these, T. 18, 19, 20, 239 & 248 begin with the dīkṣāvidhi in connection with the Mahotsava or Utsavavidhi. The text under description does not contain this part namely, Dīkṣāvidhi. T. 77 & 159 do not treat dīkṣāvidhi and begin with the conduct of the festival showing much similarity among them which is shared by the text under notice. The text under notice and these four Mss. have the same beginning. T. 19 calls this chapter as the 5th paṭala and T. 248 as the 4th paṭala. The text under notice has no numbering of the paṭala-s.

CANDRAJÑĀNĀGAMA
ŚRĪMUKHATANTRA
Śivotsava

This text gives the treatment of Śivotsava according to Śrīmukhatantra, one of the fourteen upāgama-s of the Candrajñānāgama, the 19th Mūlāgama. Here Candra is given instructions by Īśvara on the Mahotsavavidhi. This text has agreement with IFI. T. 12 & 185 and the latter is incomplete. According to the text under notice and IFI. T. 12, the topic of Śivotsava is dealt with in paṭala 21 of the Śrīmukha-tantra.

SIDDHATANTRA
Śivotsavavidhi

This text contains the treatment of the Śivotsavavidhi which forms part of the Siddhatantra. Siddham or Siddhatantra is the 23rd Mūlāgama. The entire Āgama text is not available. This Tantra have had all the four pāda-s, as the colophon mentions this text as included within the Kriyāpāda. Some paṭala-s are available in IFI. T. 69 and 175 T. 69 contains 10 paṭala-s, some of them having no beginning and some having no end. Two among them have the same title Mahotsava and one is called Śivākārotsavavidhi, both of which are incomplete. The chapter on the Mahotsavavidhi (pp. 17-69) contains some passages from the Kāmikāgama. None of these paṭala-s, which have the end mention the paṭala number in the colophon. T. 175 has 7 paṭala-s of which the Mahotsavavidhi is dealt with in ch. 3. The Paṭala-s are not numbered. The colophons for ch. 3 to 7 call the Āgama as Siddhāntatantra.

Curiously enough T. 69 contains the 10th chapter which is named as Śivākārotsavavidhi. This is incomplete. The contents of this chapter have complete agreement with those of ch. 3 of T. 175. This portion is available in the text under notice from Fol. 132b, l.3 to Fol. 135a, l.6 and in T. 175, pp. 11-17. The text under notice begins with the words Śivotsavavidhim (Fol. 132b, l.3), while T. 175 with the words Śivākārotsava (p. 11) and T. 69 has lost the beginning words. pp. 10-12 and 17-69 of T. 69 contain the same treatment, the former agreeing with the ending portion in the text and T. 175, and the latter agreeing with portions of the text only in certain places of T. 69. Perhaps, pp. 17-69 of T. 69 contains an admixture of portions from the Śivākārotsava and Mahotsavavidhi from the Kāmikāgama. If this were admitted, the title of the text under notice would be rather Śivākārotsava which however must be taken as the same as Mahotsava.

294.14 VIDVEṢAṆASAṂHITĀ

This text contains four paṭala-s of the Vidveṣaṇasaṃhitā. This Saṃhitā is one among the seven upāgama-s of the Mūlāgama Kāraṇa. The whole text is not available anywhere. Two paṭala-s are available in IFI. T. 447 and T. 359. The former deals with Mahāgaṇapatimantra and the latter with Rathapratiṣṭhāvidhi.

Among the four paṭala-s the second does not have its number mentioned in the colophon. Its number must be 72, as the previous and subsequent chapters are numbered as 71 and 73. The fourth chapter is numbered as 74. From this, it is understood that this Saṃhitā must have been an extensive one.

(Prāyaścittavidhi)

This text contains the Prāyaścittavidhi as treated in the 101st paṭala of the Kāmikāgama (uttara). It agrees with the treatment in paṭala 30 of the printed edn. SIAA. The śloka, which begins this text, is śloka 714 in the printed edn. The text agrees fully upto the end in this edition with the difference in the numbering of the paṭala.

294.16 UTSAVAPRĀYAŚCITTA

This text contains an incomplete treatment of the way of doing the acts of expiation for the shortcomings that creep in the conduct of the festival. This appears to be part of some Āgama text but the incomplete treatment and the absence of the colophon do not help in identifying the passages as belonging to any particular Āgama.

Pratiṣṭhāvidhi

R.E. 15.545. PL. 92 fols.; 335 x 35 - 375 x 28 mms.; 7-8 lines; Grantha & Tamil; very old and the edges damaged; scribe: Śvetāraṇyakurukkaḷ (fol.36b); origin: Tiruveṇkāṭu (Tanjore Dt).
Blank folios.: 90b, 91b, 92b. Date: Akṣaya, Āvaṇi, 15d.

Contents

1. Fol. 1a-36b: Samādhiliṅgapratiṣṭhāvidhi; 2. 37a-82b: Samādhiliṅgapratiṣṭhāvidhi; 3. 83a-90a: Mayamata.

A fly-leaf at the beginning contains the list of works quoted in the Samādhiliṅgapratiṣṭhāvidhi; another leaf before fol. 37 also contains the same matter. Fol. 91a has some stray verses & 92a a verse in praise of the Goddess at Tiruveṇkāṭu and another verse in praise of Vināyaka.

295.1 SAMĀDHILIṄGAPRATIṢṬHĀVIDHI

This text is a compilation of the matters dealing with the installation of Śivaliṅga on the tomb of a Śaiva ascetic. Besides this topic, the funeral rites and other matters pertaining to the Śaiva saint are dealt with here. Mention is made of Āgama-s and quotations are cited from the Āgma-s like Cintyaviśva, Acintya–viśvasādākhya, Suprabheda, Raurava, Kāmika, Vaikhānasa, Mānasāra and Siddhāntabheda. The passages cited from these are not traceable to either the printed texts or Mss. Pādmapurāṇa with Śivagītā forming part of it (fol.28a), Vāyavyasaṃhitā as part of Suprabheda (fol. 30b, 33a & 34a), Vāyavyasaṃhitā (fol. 29b, & 35 a), and Ādimahāpurāṇa with Śivagītā forming part of it (fol. 22a, 23b & 25 a) are puzzling, as such names by themselves or in association with others mentioned here are not traceable to any known text.

Contents

295.2 SAMĀDHILIṄGAPRATIṢṬHĀVIDHI

This text is identical with 295.1. This is another copy of 295.1 but in a different hand. However, there is a point to note on fol. 49b, 1.2 where there is maṅgalaśloka in praise of Vināyaka. Then follow the lines: 'viduṣāṃ pratyabhijñāyai guru(ṃ) śrījñānayogināṃ / kriyate samādhiliṅgapratiṣṭhāvidhisaṅgrahaḥ' / After this, the passages begin with the words 'iha jagati' which also are found on fol. 3a. 1.6. without the lines noted above. Again, after the words 'śivalokamavāpnuyāt' 1.2 on fol. 51, which are also found on fol. 10b. 1.7, there is the additional line 'iti santa-tasa(ñ)cintyamānajñānaprakāśapādāravindamakarandasandohasaṃkṣālitamalatra(ya)-śivatvābhivyaktiyuktakamalālayavāsanirantaraśrījñānayogiviracitasamādhiliṅgapratiṣṭhāvidhisaṅgrahassasampūrṇaḥ' / From this, it is found that one jñānayogī composed this Pratiṣṭhāsaṅgraha which is incorporated in this text. On fols. 65a, 67a & 68b: 'Śrīpādma' is the word occuring after 'ādimahāpurāṇo' and on fol. 68b, the word śrīpādma alone occurs.

296.13 KĀRAṆĀGAMA
Snapanabheda

This text contains three paṭala-s from the Kāraṇāgama. These agree mostly with the corresponding chapters in the printed edn (CP). The paṭala-s are (1) Fol. 114a-115b Pañcaviṃśatikalaśasnapana ch. 31 (2) 123b-127b: Ekonapañcāśatsnapanavidhi ch.32 and (3) 118a-122b: Aṣṭottaraśatakalaśasnapanavidhi. ch.30. These correspond to ch.36, 32 & 37, and 38 in the printed edn (CP). These three deal with snapana with 25, 49 and 108 pitchers respectively.

Beginning

Fol. 114a (104) 1.1, atha vakṣye viśeṣeṇa snapanaṃ pañcaviṃśatim / sarvasidhi-karaṃ puṇyaṃ sarvapāpanikṛntanam // ālayasyāgrataḥ kuryāt maṇḍapañcāṣṭahas-takam / ṣoḍaśasambha(stambha) saṃyuktaṃ pūrṇakumbhairalaṃkṛtaṃ // phalasrag-dāmavividhairdhvajaiśchatraiśca śobhitam /

296.14 SAHASRAKALAŚASNAPANAVIDHI
(Kāraṇāgama)

This text contains the procedure for abhiṣeka of the deity with 1000 pots. Although in the colophon it is stated to be the 24th paṭala of the Kāraṇāgama, there is a lot of difference between the text under notice and the printed edn (CP) ch.39.

Beginning

Fol. 123 (113)a, 1.1, atha vakṣye viśeṣeṇa mahāsnapanamuttamam / sarvavighna-vināśārthaṃ sarvaśāntikaraṃ param / prāsādasyāgrato vāpi pūrve dakṣiṇavāmayoḥ / kṣetraṃ parigrahet pūrvam astramantreṇa mantravit / viṃśaddhastapramāṇena kalpayeccaturaśrakam / ṣaṭtriṃśatgātrasaṃyuktaṃ vedāṣṭakaṃ nyaset /

296.17 ṢAḌADHVANYĀSA

Aghoraśivācāryā

Similar to n° 230.6.

This text deals with the Ṣaḍadhvanyāsa which is performed by touching various parts of the liṅga to be installed. It is done while uttering the mantra-s prescribed according to the six paths (ṣaḍahvan), which are mantra, varṇa, pada, tattva, kalā and bhuvana, in order to infuse divine power to the liṅga. The procedure given in the text under notice is the same as in the printed edn. of Śivaliṅgapratiṣṭhāvidhi (SIAA. 1964, pp.276-290). Since some of the fols. are lost after fol. no. 140 (130), the text is incomplete.

Beginning

Fol. 134 (124)a, 1.1, rudrabhāge / oṃ hauṃ śāntyatītakalāyai namaḥ / viṣṇubhāge / oṃ hyaiṃ śāntikalāyai namaḥ / brahmabhāge / oṃ hrūṃ vidyākalāyai namaḥ / oṃ hvīṃ pratiṣṭhākalāyai namaḥ / oṃ hyāṃ nivṛttikalāyai namaḥ / iti kalādhvā /

298.1 MUHŪRTAVIDHĀNA

This text deals with the method of fixing a day favourable for any religious rite. This agrees with T. 811 pp. 1-5. There is another work with this name which is stated in the colophon in T. 1023 (p.19), as forming part of the Kriyādīpikā. However, this text does not have any agreement with T. 1023. There is no chapter with the name Muhūrtavidhāna in the printed edn. of the text of the Kriyādīpikā of Śivāgrayogin, Madras 1900.

298.2 NAKṢATRANIGHAṆṬU

This text contains a lexicon of the twentyseven constellations classified according to their position, as high, middle and low and the deities presiding over them. This is different from T. 246(4) - pp. 1680-1683.

Beginning

Fol. 4a, 1.1. saptaviṃśatirkṣeṣu ṛkṣamuttamamucyate / aśvanīrohiṇī caivārdrāpunarvasū tathā // puṣyottarāhastacitrā svātyanurādhaye ca // śravaṇañca śraviṣṭhā ca vāruṇaṃ revatī tathā //

298.3 ARDHAYĀMAVIDHI

Similar to n° 225.14.

This text deals wiht the worship of Śiva at midnight. The colophon reads kāra(ṇa)pratiṣṭhātantra as the source. However, this treatment is not to be traced to the Kāraṇāgama or any other Āgama like Sahasra and Dīpta which treat this topic.

Beginning

Fol. 9a, 1.1. ardhayāmavidhiṃ vakṣye śṛṇuṣva kamalāsana / ardhayāmasu pūjāñca pūjā trividhamuttamam // mūrtisiddhiñca vijayaṃ rājarāṣṭravivardhanam // āyur–ārogyamaiśvaryaṃ putrapautravivardhanam // sarvarogavināśārtham apamṛtyu–nivāraṇam / kṣayāpasmārakuṣṭhādisarvakṣudrādivināśanam //

298.4 SĀRASAṄGRAHARATNĀVALĪDĪPIKĀ
Pradoṣakāla

This text fixes the time called Pradoṣa and treats the importance attached to the worship of Śiva during that time. The word sūkṣme is written on fol. 10a in the margin. The opening line is addressed to Prabhañjana who is the listener to the discourse given in the Sūkṣmāgama. There is slight agreement between this text and T. 536 at the beginning portion of p.242. There is a general and partial agreement between this text and T. 536, pp. 254-258 & 303-306; T. 37 (pp. 76-79) and T. 751 (pp. 55-57) are Sūkṣmāgama Mss. which do not have much in common with this text.

Again, the colophon on fol. 13b mentions the source for the treatment of this topic as Sārasaṅgraharatnāvalīdīpikā, the identity of which is not known. It is not clear whether this title has any connection with the Sārasaṅgraha described in GOML. R. 5184 & RASB VIII.I. 6620. The colophon gives the title as Saṃgraha-sārarātnākara.

Beginning

Fol. 10a, 1.2. pradoṣayajanaṃ vakṣye śṛṇudhvaṃ tat prabhañjana / āyurārogyam–aiśvaryaṃ sarvayajñaphalapradam // sarvapāpaharaṃ puṇyaṃ sarvaśatruvināśanam / trayodaśidine sāyaṃ kṣīrābdhimathano(d)bhavam // kabalīkṛtavān rudraḥ kālāgni-sadṛśaṃ viṣam / devānāñca hitārthāya vṛṣārūḍhaśca satvaram // tasmāt kālomayā pītaṃ garaḷaṃ lokarakṣayā / karoti ma(ya)stu ya(ma)tpūjāṃ sarvapāpaiḥ pramucyate //

298.5 PARVATALAKṢAṆA

This text contains the description of Parvata, one of 96 vimāna-s with its varieties and forms part of Śilpaśāstra. The source of this treatment is not known. Īśvara discourses on matters like this to Agastya. This vimāna is of five kinds. Mayamata deals with this kind of Vimāna. Vide: Chap. 20.13a-16a (IFI. 40.1 with French Translation).

Beginning

Fol. 14a, 1.1. agastya uvāca / devadeva mahādeva deveśa jagatāṃ guro / vimānaṃ ṣaṇṇavatyāñca brūhi me parameśvara // īśvara uvāca / śṛṇvagastya muniśreṣṭha vimānalakṣaṇaṃ kramāt / vidhaṣṣaṇṇavatibhedantatotkṛṣṭantu parvatam // parvataṃ pañcabhedaṃ hi nāmamānamathocyate / utpattisthitināśāya tiraskāramanugraham/ tadaṅgagiribhedañca lakṣaṇañca pṛthak pṛthak / uddhyāvāñjalādhāraṃ tapanā–dhārameva ca //

298.6 LIṄGAMŪRTILAKṢAṆA

Similar to n° 195.14.
This text gives an account of the various Liṅga-s and some forms of Śiva.

Beginning

Fol. 16a, 1.2. dīrghākāraṃ bhavelliṅgaṃ nimnonnatasamanvitam / rekhākoṭara–samyuktaṃ mukhenārācatonnatam // parvatāgrakṛtiṃ liṅgaṃ svamūlasthalāśrayakāḥ / karābhyāṃ sampuṭākaraṃ brahmasūtravivarjitaṃ //

298.7 VIŚVAKARMĪYA
Āyādilakṣaṇa

This text gives the measurements for the construction of mansions, ramparts, temples and for laying out the villages. There is a mention of a work called Viśvaratnākara on fol. 17b from which an extract is given on Āyādilakṣaṇa. This agrees with the treatment of this topic as contained on pp. 414-421, IFI.T. 670 which mentions the source for this treatment as forming part of ch.14 of the Viśvakarmīya. Vide: colophon on p. 426. The text under notice is thus incomplete.

The name Viśvakarma is associated with Vāstu and Śilpa subjects and the works on these appear with the names ViśvakarmaVāstuśāstra, Viśvakarmīyaśilpaśāstra and Mahāviśvakarmyam. It is hardly possible to identify the author of any of these nor to distinguish the name Viśvakarmiya from Viśvakarmya. Viśvakarmavāstuśāstra is in print (Tanjore Library Vol. No. 85) and Dīpārṇava Ch. I. (part of Viśvakarmavāstuśāstra (printed in 1960 in Saurāṣṭra). For further information, see L.II. part I pp. 142-143 & Bibliography of Indian Art and Aesthetics by Haridas Mitra pp. 202-209, Viśvabhārati-Santinekatan 1951. IFI.T. 167 Mahāviśvakarmya is a different work.

Beginning

Fol. 16b, 1.6. atha vakṣye viśeṣeṇa āyādīnāntu lakṣaṇam / āyādiśubhasaṃyuktaṃ sarvasiddhikaraṃ param // āyavyayañca yoniñca nakṣatraṃ vārameva ca / vaṃśañca tithikañcaiva lagnamāyuṣyameva ca //

298.8 JALAKRĪḌĀVIDHI

This text gives the procedure for conducting Jalakrīḍotsava for twelve days when Śiva is worshipped in a maṇḍapa erected in the midst of a tank. Floating festival is to be performed towards the end of the festival. Citation is taken from the Siddhatantra. The title is given as uḍupotsava in the margin of fol. 23a. This text agrees in parts with the Vijayottara. IFI.T. 64. pp. 72-75; T. 65 pp. 93-96. Kriyādīpa is mentioned in the colophon as the source of this text.

Beginning

Fol. 23a, 1.1. jalakrīḍāvidhiṃ vakṣye sarvaśāntikaraṃ param / rājarāṣṭrābhi–vṛddhyarthaṃ sarvaprāṇihitāvaham // dhanyaṃ yaśaskarañcāyurvardhanaṃ putravardhanam / sarvamāseṣu kartavyaṃ kṛṣṇaśukle śubhe dine // śrāvaṇe cāśvinīmāse vaiśākhe jyeṣṭhamāsake / puṣye ca phālgune māse māghamāse viśeṣataḥ //

End

Fol. 25b, 1.2. taṭākamaṇḍapaṃ dhyātvā bhaktānāmutsavaṃ param / parāśaktiśivaṃ dhyātvā jalakrīḍotsavaṃ prati // pratisaṃvatsaraṃ prītyā utsavaṃ samanuṣṭhitam / ihaiva dhanavān śrīmān so'nte rudrapadaṃ labhet // iti kriyādīpapratiṣṭhātantre uḍupotsavavidhipaṭalaḥ //

298.9 AJITĀGAMA

Ḍolotsavavidhi

This text describes the procedure for conducting Ḍolotsava (swing festival) in Śiva temples. The colophon mentions the source as jitāgama, an incorrect expression for Ajitāgama. This agrees fully with the printed edn. I.F.I. N° 24.1 where this topic is dealt with in 28th Paṭala of the Kriyāpāda of Ajitāgama. IFI.T. 435 pp. 1-13 contains an identical treatment with this text.

Beginning

Fol. 25b, 1.4 ḍolotsavavidhiṃ vakṣye śṛṇu saṃsthajjanārdana / āyurārogyadhanadaṃ rājarāṣṭravivardhanam // grāmaśāntikaraṃ puṇyaṃ sarvapāpaharaṃ śubham / maṅgalārthaṃ jayārthañca rājñāṃ prītikaraṃ śubham // nityamārogyaphaladaṃ putrapautravivardhanam / dharmārthakāmyamokṣārthaṃ kuryānmantrī yathāvidhi //

End

Fol. 30b, 1.4. praviśya bhavanaṃ paścāt balipīṭhe baliṃ kṣipet / pādaprakṣālanaṃ kṛtvā praviśedālayaṃ prati // ityevaṃ kurute martyaḥ ḍolotsavamanuttamam / sarvayajñaphalaṃ prāpya śivena saha modate // iti jitākhye mahātantre ḍolotsava-vidhipaṭalaḥ //

298.10 NĀRASIṂHA
Skandotsavavidhi

Same as n° 116.23.
However, there are slight variant readings between this text and n° 116.23.

Beginning

Fol. 31a, 1.1. athātassampravakṣyāmi skandotsavavidhiṃ śṛṇu / sarvasiddhikaraṃ puṇyaṃ sarvaśāntikaraṃ param // sarvaśatrukṣayakaraṃ iṣṭakāmyaphalapradam / utsavaṃ trividhaṃ jñeyaṃ ja(sa)ptāhaṃñca navāṅgakam // ekādaśam ityuktaṃ tri-vidhaṃ triguṇīkṛtam / saptāhaṃ śrīkaraṃ proktaṃ navāhaṃ saukhyadannṛṇām //

298.11 VAṬUKEŚVARASTHĀPANAVIDHI
(Kāmika)

This text deals with the installation of Vaṭukeśvara, one of the eight Bhairava-s, who are Siddhibhairava, Vaṭuka, Kaṅkāla, Yogini, Mahā, Śakti, Māyika and Kaṅkālāgni. For details, see Chintaharan chakravarty, The tantra-s: Studies on their Religion and Literature. This text under notice is not traceable to the Kāmikāgama.

Beginning

Fol. 34a, 1.3. vaṭukasthāpanaṃ vakṣye śṛṇuṣva kamalāsana / uttarāyaṇakāle tu śuklapakṣe śubhe dine // suvāre sumuhūrte ca sthāpanaṃ samyagācaret / aṅkuraṃ vāpayedvidvān pūrvarātrau viśeṣataḥ // suvāre sutithau ṛkṣe dṛṣṭimaṇḍalam–ālikhet /pañcamātṛmudīnāḍiṃ(?) vinyase(j)jalamadhyame//

298.12 KĀRAṆA

Grahaṇapūjāvidhi

This text lays down the procedure for worshipping Śiva during eclipse. It agrees fully with IFI.T. 373, pp. 1917-1920, where the source is stated as Sakalāgama-saṃgraha - Cidambararahasya and T. 296, pp. 432-435 where the source is given as Kāraṇa. Though the colophon reads the source as Saṅgrahasārakriyādīpikā it is evident that the source is Kāraṇa. Vide: Printed edn. CP. Ch. 132. This text under notice mentions Bhīmasaṃhitā, Vātula, and Kāraṇa as the source for some śloka-s.

Beginning

Fol. 36b, 1.4. Bhīmasaṃhitāyām: atha vakṣye viśeṣeṇa grahaṇasyārcanaṃ śṛṇu / vīkṣya māsādi mārgāntaṃ grahaṇasya ... yoḥ // puṣyādi jyeṣṭhamāsāntaṃ graha-ṇasya phalapradam / uttarāṣāḍhamāsādi mārgāntaṃ grahaṇasya tu // sadya eva phalañcaiva rājarāṣṭrasya doṣakṛt //

298.13 KṚTTIKĀDĪPAPRĀYAŚCITTAVIDHI

(Svāyambhuva)

The colophon mentions the source for this text as Svāyambhuvāgama. This topic dealt with in IFI.T. 203 on pp. 92-94 has no agreement with this text, though Svāyambhuva is mentioned there as the source. Treatment of this topic in the Svāyambhuvāgama IFI.T. 40 (p. 129) and 1019 (p. 116) is very brief.

Beginning

Fol. 38a, 1.5. svāyambhuve: prāyaścittavidhiṃ vakṣye dīpasyaiva ṣaḍānana / sāyaṅ–kāle samārabhya dīpārohaṇamācaret // vṛṣapṛṣṭhe vṛṣādrevā piṣṭāntaṃ vā par(vṛṣāgre va?) 'epi vā / gopurāgre'tha pṛṣṭhe vā pañcasālāgramadhyame //

298.14 BĀLĀLAYAVIDHI
(Kāraṇopabheda)

Similar to n° 197.5.

This text treats the procedure for erecting a temple in miniature, while the temple is built for the first time and on occasions when renovation is undertaken. According to the colophon, this forms part of an upāgama atttached to the Mūlāgama, Kāraṇa. Among the seven upāgama-s of this Mūlāgama, the Bhimasaṃhīta is well known.

Beginning

Fol. 42a, 1.4. bālālayavidhiṃ vakṣye śṛṇuṣva kamalāsana / śrīkaraṃ vijayaṃ saukhyaṃ rājarāṣṭrābhivṛddhidam // sarvaśatrukṣayakaraṃ putrapautrābhivṛddhidam / ādyaṃ dvividhamevantu dvividhaṃ taruṇālayam / mūlāśrayapratiṣṭhāyāt(ḥ) pūrvam-ādyupracakṣyate / pīṭha(e) jīrṇe ca harmyasya jīrne(ṇ) n(g)arbhagṛhasthale bhūṣaṇā-yudhahīne ca taduthā(ddh)radvitīyakam /

298.15 GRĀMAŚIVALIṄGAPRATIṢṬHĀVIDHI

This text describes briefly the procedure for installing Śivaliṅga in a village. The word vātule occurs at the beginning evidently referring to a citation from Vātula in the work on Śivaliṅgapratiṣṭhā. This is too brief and must be a text prepared for reference. This text contains a quotation from the Dīptāgama also.

Beginning

Fol. 48a, 1.1. vātule pāvanī sūkarī caiva āsurī sā kriyā matā / liṅgasamsthāpanāt pūrvaṃ pūjyapūjakayorapi // grāmakedārabhūmyādi pradāya bhaktiyogataḥ / pratiṣṭhā sthiraliṅgasya kriyate sā ca pāvanī // liṅgasusthāpanaṃ kṛtvā tayo(r)-grāmādikaṃ bahu / pradāya bhaktiyogena miśradravyakṛta(m) tvayā //

End

Fol. 49a, 1.3. tatparārthaṃ samākhyātaṃ rājarāṣṭrābhivṛddhidam / grāmādiṣu purādau vā bhūsuraiśca nṛpaistathā // vidhinā sthāpite liṅge candrakānte jalaṃ tathā / drume vahniryathā tadvat nairantarya(ṃ ?) maheśvaraḥ //

298.16 NARAMṚTAPRĀYAŚCITTA

This text offers the procedure for doing the expiatory rites when a man dies in a holy place or temple. The word svāyambhuve occurs at the beginning suggesting that this may form part of the Svāyambhuvāgama, in which, however this is not noticed.

Beginning

298.18 BHASMADHĀRAṆA

Similar to n° 65.2.

This text contains 22 śloka-s. The colophon tells that this forms part of the Kāraṇāgama. The printed edn. (CP) of the Kāraṇāgama ch. 29 contains an account of this topic (śloka-s 60-96a); but the text under notice has very little agreement with the printed text.

298.25 AṂŚUMADĀGAMA
Śaṅkhābhiṣekavidhi

This text describes the manner in which the liṅga or idol is to be given ablution using the conch. The treatment is identical, except for slightly various readings, with the treatment of this topic in the Aṃśumadāgama Mss. in IFI. T. 3 (pp. 309-314) mentions the chapter as 67. T. 4 has this topic in pp. 270-290; T. 273 in pp. 47-55; T. 889 in pp. 63-68 & T. 957 in pp. 42-45.

Beginning

298.31 ŚEṢAPRATIṢṬHĀVIDHI
(Saṅgraharatnāvali)

This text deals with the rites relating to the installation of serpent and the ritual for pacifying the snakes. The source of the work is stated to be Saṅgraharatnāvalī, the identity and autorship of which can not be settled, in spite of the colophons containing a reference to the title of the text.

Contents

298.32 KRIYĀKRAMADĪPIKĀ
by Aghoraśivācārya
Durmaraṇavidhi

This text deals with the acts to be performed by way of expiation when a premature or unnatural death takes place. The colophon mentions the Kriyākramadīpikā of Aghoraśivācārya. This text agrees in some respects with the printed edn. of Aghoraśivācārya's Kriyākramajyoti pp. 262-266

Beginning

Cintyaviśvasādākhya

R.E. 15.551. PL.; 232 fols.; 345-385 x 35 mms.; 7-8 lines; very old; much damaged; edges broken; Grantha; written in more than one hand.
Blank fols.: 41b, 137b.

This text contains the Cintyaviśvasādākhya, one among the six upāgama-s of the Cintya, the third mūlāgama. The leaves are so broken at both the edges that the fol. numbers written in the margins are lost. Some leaves are available for only a portion. The text of this Āgama is incomplete breaking off in ch. 55. Some chapters are wrongly numbered in the colophons and two chapters have the same number. Nearly 30 chapters are found here. The numbers of these are not continuous. The broken condition of the Ms. does not help in identifying some chapters. Ch. 1 to 5 and the beginning portion of ch. 6 are lost.

From the colophon on fol. 2b, it is found that this Ms. contains the Kriyāpāda of this Āgama, yet, there are some chapters on yoga. This Ms. contains mainly the treatment of Pūjā of Sūrya, Mahāgaṇapati, Ardhanārīśvara and others. Dīkṣā, Abhiṣekavidhi, Śivarātripūjā are some among the important topics dealt with here.

This Ms. has much agreement with IFI.T. 8 which is incomplete and has 39 chapters and T. 152 containing 81 chapters some of which are incomplete.

315.1 ṢAṬCAKRANIRŪPAṆA

by Puṇyānandayati with two commentaries.

This text deals with the six circles (ṣaṭcakra), Mūlādhāra, Svādhiṣṭhāna, Maṇipūra, Anāhata, Viśuddha, and Ājñākhya. According to the colophon on p.93, this text forms part of the Śrītattvacintāmaṇi of Pūrṇānandayati. It is held by some scholars that this text forms part of the Kaivalyakalikātantra according to a commentator and as Pūrṇānanda's commentary on the Virūpākṣapañcāśikā of Virūpākṣanātha, according to others. The author of the text is also held to be Brahmānanda. Some Mss. call this text as Yogavivaraṇa and others as Yogaprakaraṇa.

The name of the commentator is called Rāmavallabha or Nandarāma or Śaṃkara. Yet, the names of the two commentaries included in this text are not known.

For details, see RASB.VIII. 1. Mss. Nos. 6356-6367.

The text Ṣaṭcakranirūpaṇa with the commentary of Śaṃkara is published in Vol. IX. 1922. Tāntrik texts edited by Arthur Avalon, Calcutta.

Śyāmārahasya and Śāktakrama are the other works of Pūrṇānandayati.

324.6 KĀRAṆĀGAMA
Piṇḍikāsthāpanavidhi

This text deals with the procedure of installing the lower pedestal on which the liṅga is placed. This text agrees well with IFI. T. 449. pp. 475-482. The title is mentioned as Pīṭhikāsthāpana in the first śloka of this text and as Piṇḍikāsthāpana in the colophon. T. 449 mentions the title as Piṇḍikāsthāpana in the first śloka and as Pīṭhasthāpana in the colophon. This matter is not found treated in the printed edn. (CP).

324.18. KĀRAṆĀGAMA

This text contains four paṭala-s from the Kāraṇāgama (Pūrva). They are : - 1. Fol. 79a-80a : Somaśrīviṣṇupadmajapratiṣṭhāvidhi, 2. 80b-84a : Gaṅgādharapratiṣṭhāvidhi, 3. : 85 : Caṇḍeśapratiṣṭhāvidhi and 4. 86a-88a : Brahmapratiṣṭhāvidhi. The first mentioned paṭala is not found in the printed edn. CP. It is included in IFI. T. 449. PP. 111-113 but with much difference. It deals with the installation of Śiva with Devī, Umā, Lakṣmī, Viṣṇu and Brahmā. The second paṭala deals with the installation of Gangādhara with Gaṅgā on the head. This is similar to the printed edn. CP. pp. 461-467. The third paṭala lays down the procedure for installing Caṇḍeśa, one of the devotees of Śiva. The fourth paṭala deals with the installation of Brahmā. This agrees with IFI.T. 449.pp. 121-125.

324.20. VĪRĀGAMA (paṭala-s)

Three paṭala-s n° 35, 36, 37 form part of the Vīrāgama, 15th Mūlāgama.

Contents

1. Fol. 93a-98b: Sṛṣṭimūrtipratiṣṭhāvidhi; 2. 99a-101b: Sthitimūrtipratiṣṭhāvidhi, 3. 102a-104a: Saṃhāramūrtipratiṣṭhāvidhi.

These three deals with the way of installing the forms of the Lord as He creates, as He maintains and as He destroys the world. Somāskanda and Kalyāṇasundara are treated as Sṛṣṭimūrti. Ardhanārīśvara, Vṛṣabhavāhana and others are treated as Sthitimūrti. Forms of Kāmāri, Kāladahana, Tripurāri and others are treated under Saṃhāramūrti. These are found in pp. 273-287, 287-294, 294-299 of the Vīrāgama IFI.T. 29.

324.26. KĀRAṆĀGAMA

This text contains three paṭala-s which form part of the Kāraṇāgama. Their titles are : -1. Fols. 118a-121a : Śivavimānapratiṣṭhāvidhi, 2. Fols. 122a-126a : Devīvimānapratiṣṭhāvidhi, 3. Fol. 127. Sarvadevavimānapratiṣṭhāvidhi. These deal respectively with the procedure for the installation of the vimāna for Śiva, Devī and Sarvadeva, all gods. Among them, the first mentioned paṭala forms part of the Kāraṇāgama IFI.T. 451, pp. 107-117 though the colophon on fol. 121a mentions the Suprabhedāgama as its source. The printed edn. of this Āgama does not contain the treatment of this topic. The second topic is found in IFI.T. 451 pp. 117-126, and is not found in the printed text. The third topic differs much from the printed edn. and is not traceable to any Ms. of IFI.

324.34. VĪRĀGAMA (Paṭala-s)

Contents

1. Fol. 151b-152b : Citraberapratiṣṭhāvidhi ; 2. 152b-155a : Pādukāsthāpanavidhi. The former (ch. 40) text deals with the installation of the Citrabera, the picture of God drawn in the wall of the garbhagṛha. This agrees with the Vīratantra Ms. IFI.T. 29.pp. 312-315 where the title is given as Citrapratiṣṭhāvidhi. The latter (ch. 39) contains the rules for the installation of the sandals of God. This agrees well with IFI.T. 29.pp. 306-312.

328.12. PRADAKṢIṆAKRAMAVIDHI
(Aṃśumadāgama)

This text contains the procedure for circumambulating the idol or shrine. The opening line is addressed to Ravi and hence this text must be from the Aṃśumad-āgama; but this agrees with IFI.T. 3, 4, 158, 273, 889 & 957 only for a few lines at the beginning and for some lines here and there. Citations are there from the Bṛhannāradīya, Svāyambhuva. etc.

Utsava and daily routine

RE. 19.983. PL.; 22 fols.; 222 x 33 mms.; 6-10 lines; injured and moth eaten, Grantha; some leaves are old; writing in fols. 1-8, fols. 9-14 and 15-22 are different. Fols. 15-22 are older in age than others. There are two fols. with the same no. 106 (6 & 7).
Missing fols.: 1-99, 113-164, 166, 168-172, 178-185.

General contents

1. Fol. 1-14. Rudrayāmala: Bhadrakāḷyutsava;
2. 15-22 : Nityakarmavidhi.

330.1. RUDRAYĀMALA
Bhadrakālyutsavavidhi

This text contains an incomplete procedure of performing the festival for Bhadrakālī. The two colophons on fol. 7a and 8b mention the source for this as Rudrayāmala. The text begins on fol. 100 noted in the margin and ends on fol.112 as found in the margin. The text has an abrupt beginning and contains part of ch. 12 and the whole of ch. 13. 99 fols. are lost at the beginning. Perhaps, they contained chaps. 11 & 12 of this topic. It is not known whether Phaṇimāla and Devatāvāhama formed part of this tipic as included in the Rudrayāmala. Phaṇimālā is known in Tamil as Paṇimāla (n° 46.2) and contains śloka-s addressed to various deities starting from Vighneśvara for blessing the people of the locality where this festival is conducted. Devatāvāhana is incomplete. There is no. Ms. of this text in any Library.

Contents

1. Fol. 1a-7a : Kālyo(u)tsavavidhi; 2. 7b-8b : Rathapratiṣṭhāvidhi; 3. 9a-11a : Phaṇimālā; 4. 11b-14b : Devatāvāhana.

330.2. NITYAKARMAVIDHI

This text contains the procedure for attending to daily routine by a Śaiva. Fols. 165-186 treat this topic. 15 fols. are missing thus affecting the continuity of the treatment. The first line on fol. 165a runs as (ma)ntroddhāravidhirnāma aṣṭamo'-dhyāyaḥ. This shows that the 8th chapter is lost. In this Ms. the previous text Bhadrakāḷyutsavavidhi has an incomplete end on fol. 112b. This text begins with fol. 165. 53 fols. are lost. The writing in this text is different from that in the previous text. It is therefore hard to admit that this text is in continuation of the first text. This is further attested by the first line on fol. 165a mentioning that the 8th chapter is over; Ch. 8 which is over in 330.4. and perhaps ch.9. which deals with Nityakarmavidhi could not follow ch.12, 13. and perhaps ch.14. (incomplete) which form part of the text n°.330.1. This text may form part of the Rudrayāmala and it is not to be made out that this could be part of the Bhadrakāḷyutsavavidhi. This text could not be traced to any source. The text ends with the measurements of the kuṇḍa-s.

331.1. UTSAVAVIDHI

This text contains a brief treatment of the celebration of the Utsava in temples. It begins with anujñā–permission for undertaking the celebration and is complete. At the end there is a very brief treatment of the expiratory act for the shortcomings that occur in the conduct of the festival. This text is only a manual. It does not appear to be based on any particular text. It has not agreement with the T. Mss. of IFI. but the method and arrangement are similar to those in many of these Mss. On fol. 26a, 1.8. there is a line which runs as : śrī puṣpavaneśvarāya namaḥ. The deity in the temple at Tiruppunturutti near Tiruvaiyāru in the Tanjavur Dt. T. Nadu is known as Puṣpavananātha which may be taken as the same as Puṣpavaneśvara.

RE. 19.992. PL.; 74 fols.; 450 x 26-29 mms.; 5-8 lines; much injured; broken and moth eaten; Grantha; written at least by two scribes; brittle. This is written by Kalpūra bhaṭṭa, son of Daivaśikhāmaṇi bhaṭṭa. This belongs to this scribe in Tirucculi, in the Rāmanāthapuram Dt. T.Nadu. Vide : - colophon on fol, 26a. The date given on fol. 74b is Pramātica, Vaikāśī, II, Monday. The Ms. is however fairly old.

Blank fols.: 15b, 33b.

General contents

1. Fol. 16a-26a : Devīmaṇṭapapūjāvidhi; 2. 28a-32a : Śivarātrinirṇaya; 3. 34a-47b : Devatādhyāna; 4. 48a-49a : Ṣoḍaśagaṇapatidhyāna; 5. 49b-52b : Ṣoḍaśasubrahmaṇyadhyāna (Kumāratantra); 6. 53a-68b : Saṅkīrṇaviṣaya; 7. 69a-72b : Utsavavacana; 8. 73a-74b : Bhadrakāḷīsaṃdhyāvāhana.

The fly-leaf has the writing 'daivaśikhāmaṇibhaṭṭar putran kalpūrabhaṭṭar vacanagrandhaṃ dhyānam'. Fols. 1-15 contain very brief accounts of matters like, Bhairava, Jvaradevatā, Somāskandadeva, Sthalaliṅgadevatā, Aṣṭabandhana, Kṛttikādīpa, Śivarātri, Tāṇḍava, Caṇḍeśvara and others. Fol. 33 has some śloka-s in praise of deities like Vighneśvara and others.

337.1. DEVĪMAṆṬAPAPŪJĀVIDHI

This text lays down the procedure for worshipping the pavilion of Devī. This maṇṭapa is also called Śaktimaṇṭapa (IFI.T. 41. Part VIII) and Gaurīmaṇṭapa (IFI.T. 1075) pp. 134-165. It is stated to form part of the Kāmikāgama. T. 534-pp.1-66 is from Devīkālottara, and there are Mss. T. 349 - pp. 179-204 and T. 680 - pp. 1 -18 which treat this topic. The text under notice does not have agreement with any of these. The text hast lost the beginning portion.

337.2. ŚIVARĀTRINIRṆAYA

Same as n° 75.9.

The text begins with an address to Ravisattama which suggests that the text belongs to Aṃśumadāgama; but IFI.T. nos 6, 273 and 1007 and Aṃśumat do not agree with the text. Towards the end, the name Candrajñāna occurs indicating that this text is part of the Candrajñānāgama but IFI.T. nos. 12 and 273 candrajñāna treat this topic in a manner different from this text. However, the colophon indicates that it is a part of Sakalāgamasaṃgraha and as such it is a collection of verses from differentāgama-s.

337.5. ṢOḌAŚASUBRAHMAṆYADHYĀNA
(Kumāratantra)

This text contains the Dhyānaśloka-s of the sixteen forms of Subrahmaṇya. According to the colophon, this forms part of the Mantroddhārapaṭala of the Kumāratantra. This is part of the chapter with this name in the printed end. of the Kumāratantra SIAA. 1974, pp. 18-25, śloka-s 48-73. Mantroddhāra is treated in pp. 4-18 and it is followed by the Dhyānaśloka-s.

Fols. 1a, 3a, & 5a mention the texts in this Ms., 1b, 2a, 3b & 4a contain some Nāmāvali-s, and fol.19 contains some directions for offering bali.

349.1. SAURAPŪJĀ

This text contains a very brief treatment of Saurapūjā according to the Vedic rules, Sūryārcana, Sauradhyāna and the fixing of the day and time for doing this.

Beginning

Fol. 5 (1)b, (col.1), 1.1. saurapūjai, toraṇapūjai, oṃ śāntite namaḥ / oṃ bhūti namaḥ / oṃ bala namaḥ / oṃ hāṃ āro namaḥ / oṃ śāntikalā namaḥ / oṃ vidyā namaḥ / oṃ pratiṣṭhā namaḥ / oṃ hāṃ nivṛtti namaḥ //

349.2. RUDRAYĀMALA

Rudrayāmala belongs to the Yāmala kind of the Śaiva Āgama texts. See Introduction p.XXIV. Des.Cat.I. (IFI. n° 1). This text contains four chapters with the names, 1. Mātṛpuṇyāha, 2. Bhadrakālīnityapuṇyāha, 3. Aṅgārapūjā & 4. Kālīpratiṣṭhāvidhi. Among these, the first mentioned chapter lays down the method of doing Puṇyāha in connection with the festival held in honour of the seven Mothers. The colophon refers to the source for this as Rudrayāmala. The second mentioned chapter deals with the daily worship of Bhadrakālī. This is found briefly treated in IF.I.T. 489. However, this does not have a colophon mentioning the source. The third text deals with the offering of bali made of the flesh of an animal after baking it. This is to be offered to Kāli. The Rudrayāmala is mentioned at the end as the source. The fourth chapter deals with the installation of Kālī. This is, according to the colophon, part of the Rudrayāmala. The printed edn. of the Rudrayāmala, Yogaratnamālā 7 Varanasi 1980, does not have any of these chapters.

General contents

1. Fol.1 - 23 : Pratiṣṭhāvidhi; 2. 24a-40a : (Kāraṇāgama) : - 1. Vāstuśāntividhi; 2. Rakṣoghnavidhi; 3. Praveśabali; 4. Mṛtsaṅgrahaṇavidhi; 5. Aṅkurārpaṇavidhi; 6. Pratisaravidhi; 7. Jalādhivāsavidhi; 8. Nayanonmīlanavidhi.

Fol.1 Aa has some verses from a strotra, 1Ab the list of Kalaśa-s to be kept in various āvaraṇa-s (enclosures) for Sahasrakalaśābhiṣeka. The characteristics of lambakūrca, darbhamālā and others are treated in fol.17a, fol. 17b describes briefly Viṣṭara and Jñānakhaḍga, fol. 24 contains some statements about dāna, the important features of Śivadvija, etc.

352.1. PRATIṢṬHĀVIDHI

Important rituals connected with the installation of an idol are treated here. The topics dealt with are not well arranged. Maṇḍapapūjā, Vedikārcana, Āvāhanamantra, Vardhanī-Āvāhana, Agnikārya and Antarbali are dealt with in this text.

352.2. KĀRAṆĀGAMA

This text contains 8 paṭala-s of the Kāraṇāgama. They are : - 1. Vāstuśāntividhi; 2. Rakṣoghnavidhi. 3. Praveśabali; 4. Mṛtsaṅgrahaṇavidhi; 5. Aṅkurārpaṇavidhi; 6. Pratisaravidhi; 7. Jalādhivāsavidhi and 8. Nayanonmīlanavidhi. The colophons, except the last one mention the Kāraṇāgama as containing these paṭala-s. None of these paṭala-s could be traced to the printed edns. of the Kāraṇāgama (Pūrva and uttara). N° 86.3. treats Praveśabali, the colophon mentioning the Kāraṇāgama as the source but this is not found in the printed edns. of this Āgama. At most, it can be said that these are the summarised versions of these topics based on the Kāraṇāgama.

Stotra-s & Kalpapūjā

RE. 20.015. PL.; 28 fols.; 220 x 30 - 230 x 27 mms.; 6-7 lines; Grantha; old and damaged at many places; Scribe: Deivaśikhāmaṇibhaṭṭar; Origin: Tirucculi.
Missing fols.: 6,7.
Blank folios: 8b, 13b, 28b.

General contents

1. Fol. 2a-7a : Āśīrvāda; 2. 9a-12a : Navarātrikalpa; 3. 14b-19b : Lakṣmīpūjā; 4. 20a-22b : Mīnākṣīstotra; 5. 23a-24b : Bhāskareśāṣṭaka; 6. 25a-26b : Vedāntastotra.

Fol.1 has some miscellaneous verses and it is written 'vacanam' on the margin of 1a. Fol.8a has verses relating to balidāna. Fols.12a-13a have nāmāvali-s. Fol.27 has miscellaneous verses. It is written 'Śrītanunāthasvāmi sahāyam', 'śrimahāgaṇapataye namaḥ' in 28a.

356.1. ĀŚĪRVĀDA

Similar to n° 332.8.
The text contains 13 statements.

Beginning

Fol. 2a, 1.1. svastimantrārthā(ḥ) satyāssaphalāssantuti(tviti) bhavanto mahānto 'nugṛhṇantu / asya devālayasya mahotsavakarmaṇi mantratantranyūnādividhivikrama ... ttā ... yā ... miti bhavanto mahānto'nugṛhṇantu //

356.2. NAVARĀTRIKALPA

This text very briefly deals with the procedure of Navarātri worship. The method adopted is not similar to that of Aghoraśivācārya's paddhati as found in the Mahānavamīpūjāvidhi. The text under notice stops with the aṅgapūjā.

Beginning

Fol. 9a, 1.1. atha bhādrapadamāse śuklapakṣe prathamadivase sāyāhne ācāryaḥ snātvā bhasmadhāraṇaṃ kṛtvā devyālayaṃ praviśya kūrmāsanādau uttarābhimukhaṃ praviśya (upaviśya) sakalīkaraṇaṃ sāmānyārghyaṃ saṃkalpya vighneśvaraṃ saṃpūjya puṇyāhaṃ vācayitvā ...

356.3. LAKṢMĪPŪJĀ

This text contains the Lakṣmīpūjā according to a Kalpa like the previous text. It stops with the arcana of 21 names of Lakṣmī.

Beginning

Fol. 14 (8)b, 1.1. asyāṃ śubhatithau mahālakṣmīdevatāmuddiśya mahālakṣmīdevatāprītyarthaṃ kalpoktara (kalpokta) prakāreṇa mahālakṣmīpūjāṃ kariṣye / iti saṃkalpya vināyakaṃ saṃpūjya puṇyāhaṃ kṛtvā / kalpapūjā //

356.4. MĪNĀKṢĪSTOTRA

This text contains 9 verses in praise of Goddess Mīnākṣī, the presiding deity of Madurai. It is not found elsewhere and hence seems to be rare. But the last verse contains the line "śaṃkareṇapraṇītāṃ" by which we may say that the author of the text is Śaṃkara.

Beginning

Fol. 20 (11a), 1.1. vande śaṃkaravāmabhāganilayāṃ vande śukaśyāmalāṃ vande viṣṇuvihendra(Vidhīndra)sevitapadāṃ vande nagendrātmajām / vande hārakirīṭa-kuṇḍaladharāṃ vande jaganmātṛkāṃ vande sundaramandahāsavadanāṃ vande su-mīnākṣinīm // 1 //

356.5. BHĀSKAREŚĀṢṬAKA

by Dharmantra (Dharmendra)

This stotra is in praise of Śiva with special name Bhāskareśa. Every stanza ends with the refrain "Bhāskareśāya namaśśivāya". The author's name as mentioned in the last verse is Dharmantra which is not clear. The name of the author could be taken as Dharmendra. The text seems to be a rare one as it is not found mentioned elsewhere.

Beginning

Fol. 23 (4)a, 1.2. namastriśūlāya gadādharāya namo'mbikāyāḥ pataye harāya namo mahānāgabhūṣaṇāya śrībhāskareśāya namaśśivāya / 1 / nāgājināmbaradharāya naṭaneśvarāya bhogīndrabaddhamakuṭāya bhayāpahantre / brahmendradevamunibṛn-danutāya tubhyaṃ śrībhāskareśāya namaśśivāya //

356.6. VEDĀNTASTOTRA

This text contains fourteen verses which are not found elsewhere. Like the verses of the Nirvāṇaṣaṭka, these verses also have the refrain "Cidānandarūpaḥ śivo'haṃ śivo'ham". On the margin of fol. 25a, it is written as "śaṃkarācāryastotram".

Beginning

Fol. 25 (6)a, 1.1. catuṣpāda ... ktaṃ sarojañca cittaṃ ṣaḍārandaśāraṃ sphurad-dvādaśāraṃ daladvandvayuktaṃ sarojaṃ cidevaṃ cidānandarūpaṃ(ḥ) śivo'haṃ / 1 //

357.4. MAHOTSAVAVIDHI

This text contains the description of celebrating the Mahotsava beginning from Bherītāḍana.

Contents

1. Fol. 16a-22b : Bherītāḍana; 2. 23a-25b : Devatāvāhana; 3. 26a-27b : Padyamālai.

The Padyamālā is in Sanskrit addressed to the deity in the Pāṇḍya country, perhaps the deity at Madurai. Each of the five padya-s of this Padyamālā is in Sanskrit with the final word in Tamil addressed to the deity.

Beginning

357.6. PĀRTHIVALIṄGAPŪJĀVIDHI

This text lays down the procedure for worshipping the earthern liṅga. Such liṅga is prepared by mud or sand (Saikataliṅga) just for the personal daily worship and this is discharged at the end of the worship. This is similar to n° 69.8. but distinct from it. This is also different from IFI.T. 4. pp. 585-592. Cures for certain diseases like consumption are stated to result from the worship of this liṅga.

358.3. UMĀYĀMALA

This text contains three chapters of the Umāyāmala dealing with Mātṛpūjādhikāra (fols.6a-7a), Mātṛdīkṣāvidhi (fols. 7a-8b), and Kramārcana-vidhāna (fols. 8b-11b) respectively. Umāyāmala belongs to the group of the Śākta texts like Rudrayāmala, Skandayāmala and others. Fols. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 & 11 bear on their margins, the numbers 155, 156, 182, 183, 184 & 185 written, showing that much of contents of this text are lost. Ch. 3 which begins on fol. 7a (156) commences with the treatment of Pañcācāryalakṣaṇa. Fol.8b,(182) ends with ch. 4. The topic Kramār-cana, which begins on fol. 8b, in ch. 5. following ch. 4. as mentioned in the colophon on fol. 8b ends on fol. 11b (185) in which it is stated as ch. 18. in the colophon. The fols. numbered 182 to 185 follow in the regular order disallowing the suggestion that there could be break in between them, so as to explain how ch.18. is mentioned on fol. 11b, while ch.4. is mentioned on fol. 8b. Since the topic Kramārcana continues in these fols. 8b-11b, the mention of ch. 18. on fol. 11b must be incorrect. Agnikārya marks the beginning of the next chapter whatever be its number on fol. 11b. This chapter breaks off at the beginning. This text Umāyāmala, is stated in the colophons, as having more than one lakh of quarters (pāda) having Vidyāpāda and eighty seven procedures enjoined. Fols. 3 to 11 are numbered as 90, 99, 104, 155, 182, 183, 184, & 185. Twenty fols. are found lost in this text Umāyāmala.

358.4. KĀMIKA(Uttara)
Śītakumbhavidhi

This text contains the treatment of Śītakumbhavidhi, which is to be performed when there is drought and famine affecting animals also. This is to be done in Vaiśākha month. This is called Vaiśākhamāsaśītakumbhavidhi in the printed text (SIAA) of the Kāmikāgama (Uttara) ch. 15. The deities in the temples are to be given special bath as described in this text which would result in heavy down-pour of rain. The text under description breaks off in Śloka 29a and thus is incomplete.

360.2. ṢOḌAŚAGAṆAPATILAKṢAṆA

Similar to n° 140.5.
This text gives the list of 16 Gaṇapati-s but the description of them contains Vighneśvara and Nṛtya kinds which are not enumerated and Vijaya, and Maha(ā ?) kinds are left off. Herambagaṇapati is dealt with twice, the śloka-s being different. After the 16th śloka which is supposed to have completed the description, mention is made of Āśugaṇapati with whose description the text breaks off. An almost similar description of the 16 Gaṇapati-s with slight variations in name, order and in enumeration is contained in IFI.T. 503 - pp. 8-12, IFI.T. 288 pp.294-298 has close agreement with the text. Similarly is the case with IFI.T. 112. pp.91-95.

Pratiṣṭhā

RE. 20.020. PL.; 7 fols.; 410 x 36 mms.; 5-9 lines; slightly injured; Grantha; some leaves are old and some are new; writing is more than in one hand. The Ms. belongs to Tirucculi in the Ramanathapuram Dt. of Tamil Nadu. The date of the Ms. is given on fol.4b as Siddhārthi Caitra, 32nd day.

General contents

1. Fol.2a-3a : Kāraṇāgama : Īśvaravimānasthāpanavidhi; 2. 3a-4b : Devīpratiṣṭhā; 3.5a-8b : Vāstupūjā.

361.1. KĀRAṆĀGAMA (PŪRVA)
Īśvaravimānasthāpanavidhi

This text deals with the installation of the vimāna in the Śiva temple. It agrees well with the Vimānasthāpanavidhi dealt with in ch.70 of the printed edn.(CP) of the Kāraṇāgama (Pūrva). The printed edn. calls this paṭala as simply Vimānasthāpanavidhi. The text under notice begins with śloka 16b of the printed edn. and is identical with the printed text for the ending portion. It is interesting to note that in the colophon it is mentioned Vināyaka maheśvarasamvāda. Normally it is considered as Prajāpati-Śivasamvāda.

361.2. DEVĪPRATIṢṬHĀ

This text is called in the colophon as Devīpratiṣṭhā, forming part of the Kāraṇāgama; but the printed text Kāraṇa (uttara) CP. ch. 84. does not contain this text. Besides, the text begins with a glorified description of the Kailāsa mountain with Śiva there attended by Gods and sages. At the request of the latter, Śiva gives a descripiton of the stūpikā (pinnacle) in the shrine of Devī. This is different from n° 241.4. This text does not thus seem to deal with the topic given in the title.

362.1. KĀRAṆĀGAMA (PŪRVA)
Nityārcanavidhi

This text contains the procedure for performing daily worship to Śiva. This matter is dealt with in ch.30 of the Kāraṇāgama (Pūrva) - printed edn. CP. The text agrees with the printed edn. but there is also divergence between the two in the matter of the passages found in one and missing in the other and in the sequential order of the passages. Besides, the text has no colophon.

365.4. PUṢYAPŪRVĀṢĀḌHĀDIGAṆḌĀNTAŚĀNTI

This text lays down the procedure for controlling the evil effects of Puṣya, Pūrvāṣāḍha and other stars during their course. The word gaṇḍānta means the period of the particular stars holding their way. This may be for a short time e.g., pāda, first, or second and others. This is almost identical with the treatment of this topic on pp. 151-154 of the Śāntikusumākara I (Grantha) Madras, 1935.

Beginning

Fol. 11 (4)a, 1.1. gārgyaḥ / praṇipatya raviṃ vande prāyaścittamanusmaran / sarvāriṣṭavināśāya yaduktaṃ jyotiṣārṇave // pitāriṣṭaṃ sutāriṣṭaṃ mā(tā)riṣṭaṃ tathaiva ca / prāyaścittantadā kuryāt taddoṣaśamanāya vai // pūrvāṣāḍhe ca puṣye ca sārpāntamakhapūrvake / revatyaśvayujormadhye jyeṣṭhānte mūlapūrvake //

365.5. ṢAṢṬYABDAPŪRTI ŚĀNTI

(Mārkaṇḍeyapurāṇa)

This śānti must be performed when a man completes his 60th year. This is stated in the colophon as forming part of the Mārkaṇḍeyapurāṇa. Similar to n° 136.12.

Beginning

Fol. 15a, 1.1. athātassampravakṣyāmi ṣaṣṭiśāntiṃ prayatnataḥ / ṣaṣṭisaṃvatsare pūrṇe lokānāṃ hitakāmyayā // janmavarṣe janmamāse śāntiṃ kurvīta yatnataḥ / punarjātantu kartvyamāyurvṛddhiśriyāvaham // apamṛtyubhayaṃ ghoraṃ g(ra)ha-pīḍāvināśanam //

365.6. DHANIṢṬHĀPAÑCAKAŚĀNTI

This text deals with śānti to be undertaken when death occurs in the Dhaniṣṭhā constellation. Four more constellations Śatabhiṣak, Pūrvaproṣṭhapada, Uttara-proṣṭhapada and Revatī are also included in this group. At the end, it is said that

Bodhāyana's treatment of this topic is given here. For Mss. see NCC IX. pp. 223-224

Beginning

Fol. 20a, 1.4. hariḥ om / athāto dhaniṣṭhāpañcakaśāntiṃ vyākhyāsyāmaḥ / dhaniṣṭhādipañcarkṣe gaṇḍānte vā yasmin yasmin gṛho śavātīpate ta dra tu (?) mantarā tat grahādhipatiṃ lokannayati / athavā tatgṛhaśrīmapi prajāṃ vā jahyāt / tadaghanivṛttyai tasyaikādaśāhne vā trayodaśāhne vā namāsamativartayan śāntiṃ kurvīta /

365.7. SARPAŚĀNTI

This text offers the procedure for doing śānti to ward off the sin caused by killing serpents. This agrees with n° 48.6. written by Śaṅkhanācārya, but the agreement is only for the beginning portion. There is general agreement between this text and GOML. D. 3457.

Beginning

Fol. 23 (7)a, 1.1. sarpaśāntiṃ pravakṣyāmi ... nasyābhivṛddhaye / sarpasaṃhāradoṣeṇa kulakṣayakaraṃ bhavet // janmāntarasahasre tu gūḍhahananaṃ yadi / punaḥ punaśca doṣāya kalpitaṃ karmabandanam / ekamāsaśiśornaṣṭe ekābde śiśunāśanam //

365.9. GRAHAṆAŚĀNTI

This text deals with the methods to be adopted for getting freed from the evil effects consequent upon the occurrence of eclipses. There is slight similarity between this text and that in the Śāntikusumākara I. (Grantha, Kumbakonam, 1935), pp. 133-135.

Beginning

Fol. 26 (10)b, 1.1. athāto grahaṇaśāntiṃ vyākhyāsyāmaḥ / yasya janmanakṣatre janmāṃśake janmalagne vā candrasūryoparāgo yadi māsānmaraṇaprado bhavati / vipajjayapratyare mahādoṣaṃ prāpnuyāt / tacchāntikramaṃ vyākhyāsyāmaḥ / śrotriyānācāraparān ṣaḍadhikadaśabrāhmaṇānāhūya śucau deśe gomayena gocarma-mātrañcaturaśraṃ sthaṇḍilam upalipya puṇyāhaṃ vācayitvā /

365.10. MŪLĀNAKṢATRAŚĀNTI

This text deals with the śānti for birth in the Mūla constellation. This has no agreement with the treatment in the Śāntikusumākara I Grantha, Kumbakonam 1935 pp. 75-76. This text is the same as GOML. D. 3398 for the beginning portion. See also ibid. D. 3400.

Beginning

Fol. 29 (13)a, 1.1. ... sampravakṣyāmi mūle jātahitāya ca / mātāpitrorjananyāpi kulajātihitāya ca / tyāge vā ... tasya ... bdādvidaśanam // abhuktamūlajātānanāṃ parityāgo vidhīyate /

365.11. GRAHAṆAŚĀNTI

This text deals with the methods of freeing oneself from the bad effects of the eclipse. The name Bodhāyana occurring at the end suggests that this is based on the rules of Bodhāyana. For different texts on this topic, see NCC VI. pp. 249-50. This is different from n° 365.9.

365.12. ROHIṆĪNAKṢATRAŚĀNTI

This text gives the procedure for doing śānti when a child is born in the constellation Rohiṇī. For different texts on this topic, see Thanjavur L.no. 1320 & GOML. D. 3409.

Beginning

Fol. 35 (19)b, 1.1. athātaḥ saṃpravakṣyāmi śaunako ha dvijanmanām / prājāpatyarkṣajātānāṃ śāntiṃ kuryādyathāvidhi // rohiṇyāmādyapāde tu mātulānāṃ mṛtirbhavet / dvitīyapāde jyeṣṭhasya kaniṣṭhasya tṛtīyake // mātāmahasya turīye trimāsānmaraṇaṃ bhavet // tadarbhakantyajennūnan-tanmukhannāvalokayet /

365.13. GAUḶIPATANAŚĀNTI

This text notes the evils that would befall a person when a lizard falls on him and also shows how such evil effects could be got over. In a way, this agrees with the treatment contained in the printed text Śāntikusumākara II pp. 67-71, Grantha, Kumbakonam 1936. The colophon in the text under notice states that the text forms part of Vṛddhagargasaṃhitā. cf GOML. D. 3296.

Beginning

365.14. KUHŪŚĀNTI

This text deals with the śānti for Kuhū, when the moon becomes invisible at sunrise on a new-moon day. The treatment is mostly similar to that in the Śāntikusumākara I (Grantha), Kumbakonam, 1935 pp. 175-176.

Beginning

Fol. 39 (23)b, 1.2. indra uvāca / kuhūyuktantu nakṣatraṃ rāśirāśyaṃśake yathā / kā kuhūśca ko kuhūśca doṣaḥ kindānaṃ śāntikā kriyā // evaṃ vicārya yatnena yathādoṣaṃ guro vada / bṛhaspatiḥ / kuhūśāntiṃ pravakṣyāmi purā gautamamabravīt // yasya janmarkṣagaścandro viṣanāḍyāṃ kuhūṃ vrajet / ābhicāreṇa kintasya svayameva mariṣyati //

365.15. JYEṢṬHĀNAKṢATRAŚĀNTI

This text describes the method of warding off the evil effects due to birth in the Jyeṣṭhā constellation. This is similar to GOML. D. 3316.

Beginning

Fol. 41 (25)b, 1.7. sukhāsīnaṃ muniśreṣṭhagarbhaṃ muniganairvṛtam / kṛtāñjali-puṭo bhūtvā muniḥ papraccha śaunakaḥ / jyeṣṭhānakṣatrasambhūtagaṇḍadoṣanivṛttaye / śāntikarma muniśreṣṭha yathāvat kathayādya me // gārgyaḥ - ghaṭikaikā ca mūlādyai jyeṣṭhānte ghaṭikādvayam / ṛkṣasiddhiriti jñeyaṃ śiśūnāṃ gaṇḍamīritaḥ //

365.16. KṚKALĀSAŚĀNTI

This text describes the method of overcoming the evil effects consequent upon the fall of kṛkalāsa (chameleon) on a person. The treatment is stated to have been taken from a Sarvasaṃgraha according to the colophon on fol. 45a. This agrees to some extent with the treatment in the Śāntikusumākara I (Grantha, Kumbakonam 1935) pp. 126-128 where Jyotiṣārṇavasaṃgraha is stated to be the source for this treatment.

Beginning

Fol. 43 (27)b, 1.3. śiromadhye ca pārśve ca kṛkalāsaḥ pate(d)yadhaḥ / māsatrayaṃ mṛtyussyād ye narāśśāntivarjitāḥ // lalāṭe nāsike netre karṇayośca kapolayoḥ / māse catuṣṭaye mṛtyuḥ kṛkalāsasya pātane //

365.17. ULŪKAŚĀNTI

This text treats the method of performing śānti consequent upon the sight of the owl in the house. It forms part of Mādhavīya, a commentary by Mādhava of Vijayanagara 13th century A.D., upon the Parāśarasmṛti. Similar to GOML. D. 3256.

Beginning

Fol. 45 (29)a, 1.3. ulūkaśāntiṃ vakṣyāmi vaivạsvatakulodbhava / ulumbala-sutasyāsya ulūka iti nāmatā // gṛhe divā ca dṛṣṭaścet mahotpāto na saṃśayaḥ / gṛhāntaḥ praveśe dṛṣṭe tu svanāśo'tha dhanakṣayaḥ //

365.18. ĀŚLEṢĀNAKṢATRAŚĀNTI

This text describes the procedure for doing śānti to a person born in the Āśleṣā constellation. This forms part of the Jyotiṣārṇava, a work on Jyautiṣa. This differes from GOML. D. 3246-49.

Beginning

Fol. 46 (30)b, 1.2. ataḥ paraṃ pravakṣyāmi śaunako munisattama / sarpe jātasya ca śiśoḥ prāyaścittamanusmaran // sarvāriṣṭavināśāya yaduktañjyotiṣārṇave / pitāriṣṭa-sutāriṣṭamātāriṣṭantathaiva ca / prāyaścitta(n)tadā kuryāt ... doṣaśamanāya vai //

365.19. NARAPATANAŚĀNTI

This text prescribes the method of undertaking śānti when a man in a sleepy mood or any other falls on another man. This is according to the colophon, taken from Utpalaparimala. Cf. NCC. IX. P. 353.

Beginning

Fol. 48 (32)a, 1.4. atha narapatanaśāntirucyate / nidrāvaśānmanuṣyastu manuṣyopari pātane / kujārkivāre janmarkṣe śītāṃśoraṣṭame'pi va ṣāṇmāsān mṛtyumāpnoti mahāpīḍā bhaviṣyati /

365.20. APAMṚTYUÑJAYAKALPA

This text deals with the procedure for making use of the mantra which effectively saves one from immediate danger of death sudden or unnatural. This is similar to GOML. D. 3235 and D. 7741 which is part of the Ākāśabhairavakalpa.

Beginning

Fol. 49 (33)b, 1.4. athātō'pamṛtyuñjayakalpaṃ vyākhyāsyāmaḥ / janmanakṣatre puṇyanakṣatre trijanmani vā brāhmaṇānannena pariviṣya puṇyāhaṃ svasti ṛddhimiti vācayitvātha devayajanollekhanaprabhṛtyagnimukhāt tvakṣaraprādeśamātṛsītasu ... dūrvāsamidho'ṣṭasahasrandadhi madhughṛatapayāṃsi samudāyityāhyājñāṃ dadhāti /

365.21. AMĀVĀSYĀYĀÑJANANAŚĀNTI

This text lays down the procedure for doing śānti when a person is born on the Amāvāsyā day. Mārkaṇḍeya is stated, in the colophon, as the author of this text.

Beginning

Fol. 50 (34)b, amāyāmatha jātānāṃ phalaṃ vakṣyāmi yatnataḥ / śāntiṃ kūrvīta vidhinā tithiṣaḍbhāga ucyate / ādye tu pitṛgaṇḍañca dvitīye mātarantathā / tṛtīye dhanagaṇḍañca caturthe mātulantathā / pañcame bhrātṛnāśaśca ṣaṣṭhe sarvārthanāśanam // taddoṣaparihārārthaṃ śāntiṃ kuryādyathāvidhi /

365.22. MANDAVĀRAJANMANAKṢATRAŚĀNTI

This prescribes the way of doing śānti when the constellation of ones birth falls on Saturday. This is slightly different from the treatment of this topic in GOML. D. 3396 which, like this text, is part of the Yāmala.

Beginning

Fol. 51 (35)b, 1.1. atha śāntiṃ pravakṣyāmi mande janmarkṣasambhavet / kleśāyurarthahāniśca nānārogasamudbhavaḥ // tasmācchāntiṃ prakurvīta vitta-śāṭhyanna kārayet / gṛhasyeśānadikbhāge gomayopalepite puṇyāhantatra kūrvīta yajamānassamāhitaḥ // ācāryaṃ varayet paścāt devajñaṃ vedapāragam // suśāntaṃ karmakuśalaṃ kulīnañca kuḍumbinam /

365.24. GṚDHRAŚĀNTI

This text gives the procedure for doing śānti when a vulture alights in a house in particular spots and directions. The colophon mentions that Vasiṣṭha's account of this is given here. For further information, see NCC.VI.p. 98.

Beginning

Fol. 54 (38)b, 1.3. athāto gṛdhraśāntiṃ vyākhyāsyāmaḥ / gṛhamadhye gṛdhre sthite sakuḍumbasya mahat bhayaṃ bhavati // bṛhaspatimantreṇa khādirasamidbhiraṣṭottaraśataṃ juhuyāt / indradigbhāge gṛdhre sthite aṣṭāhāt gṛhapate (r) vyādhipīḍā bhavati // yata indra bhayāmaha iti mantreṇa palāśa-samidbhiraṣṭottaraśata juhuyāt / śatah(?) /

365.25. SOMAVĀRĀRGHYA

This text contains the treatment of Somāvārārghya. This topic is part of Somavāravrata when Śiva and Pārvatī are worshipped on Mondays in the Kārttika month. This topic represents the concluding part (vratodyāpana) of this Vrata. The beginning portion in this text agrees with n° 38.4. and GOML. D. 8587.

Beginning

RE. 20.027. PL.; 94 fols.; 425 x 30 mms.; 7-8 lines; Grantha; old and moth-eaten; some leaves damaged very much; Two different types of hand-writing; The scribe salutes one Akhilāṇḍapaṇḍita (vide fol. 67a).
Blank fols.: 18b, 82b.

General contents

1. Fol. 1a-3b : Vāstupūjā; 2. 4 : Aṅkurārpaṇavidhi; 3. 5a-16b : Maṇḍapapūjā; 4. 19a-26b : Karṣaṇādipratiṣṭhāvidhi; 5. 27b-30a : Svāyambhuva : Praveśabali; 6. 31a-67a : Pratiṣṭhāpaddhati; 7. 67a-68b : Gaurīpratiṣṭhāvidhi; 8. 69a-70b : Vāstupūjā-vidhi; 9. 70b-82a : Utsavapaddhati; 10. 83a-94b : Agnikārya.

Fol. 1A contains a few lines on Vṛṣabhapratiṣṭhā. Fol. 17a-18a enumerates 27 ghaṭādhipa-s for Vāstupūjā and has fragments about the same.

366.1. VĀSTUPŪJĀ

This text deals with the Vāstupūjā and its procedure. It differs in some respects from nos.118.1. & 204.7.

Beginning

Fol. 1a, 1.1. atha vāstupūjāvidhiṃ vyākhyāsyāmaḥ / prāsāde ... gre bālasthāne yāgamaṇḍape vā vāstupūjāsthānaṃ saṃkalpya liṅgasthāpanasaṃprokṣaṇasakala-sthāpanagarbhanyāsaṃ maṇḍapasthāpanaprāsādasthāpanamaṇḍapapraveśanagṛhapra-veśanapavitrārohaṇaśūlasthā(pa)nadārusaṃgrahaṇaśilāgrahaṇamadhūcchiṣṭarathasthā-panadīkṣābhiṣekaityādikarmaṇām/

366.2. AṄKURĀRPAṆAVIDHI

Similar to n° 198.3.
The procedure as dealt with here for Aṅkurārpaṇa is very brief.

Beginning

Fol. 4a, 1.1. pratiṣṭhādikamuddiśya yatra divase adhivāsanakarma kriyate taddinamekaṃ vihāya pūrve navasaptapañcatraikekatamāhe sadyo vā śuddhabhūtale ṣoḍaśadhā vibhakte madhyakoṣṭhacatuṣṭaye dhānyapañce (?) dharalaṃkṛtya ...

366.3. MAṆḌAPAPŪJĀ

Same as n° 86.2.

This text deals with the procedure of worshipping the Maṇḍapa the main pavilion. The colophon reads as, 'iti kriyākramajyotivistāramaṇḍapapūjai- ...' Hence it seems that the procedure adopted here is based on the Kriyākramadyotikā and a little elaborate.

Beginning

Fol. 5a, 1.1. maṇḍapapūjāṃ kramaṃ(maṇḍapapūjākramo) vakṣyate dvāravasudhāturasabhūtakaragehe pādaraviṣoḍaśanavonavapadaṃ syāt / madhyanavavedisaha trīṇi padamadhye kuṇḍanavapañca śivamaṇḍapavidhānam / prākkumbhabhūtantathaikāgnikumbhaṃ dākṣiṇyavedaṃ nirṛtau tathāgnim / vāruṇyaṣaṭkamaśvinivāyuṃ some yugaṃ syāt trikumbhamīśe //

366.4. KARṢAṆĀDIPRATIṢṬHĀNTAVIDHI

Though the title of the text is written so in the margin of fol. 19a, it actually deals from Śilāsaṃgrahaṇa to Śilāvinyāsa only. The colophon also reads "iti kriyākramadyotikāyāṃ ... " but it is at the most based on the Kriyākramadyotikā.

Beginning

Fol. 19a, 1.1. vighata (vigata) pādapo mūla iti maṇḍale vināyakapūjā pūrvaṃ vāstupūjāṃ homaṃ vidhāya tadagninā paryagnikaraṇapūrvaṃ puṇyāhaprokṣaṇaṃ vidhāya vitānadarbhamālādyaiḥ maṇḍapamalaṃkuryāt / lohapratimā-pratiṣṭhāyāntu ratnanyāsapūrvaṃ padmabandhaṃ sudṛḍhaṃ kṛtvā ...

366.6. PRATIṢṬHĀPADDHATI

Similar to n° 203.

This text deals with the procedure for installaion in detail. It seems to be a manual for the use of priests and the text on which it is based is not known.

Beginning

366.7. GAURĪPRATIṢṬHĀVIDHI

Same as n° 116.8.

Though the colophon at the end states it to be forming part of the Kriyākrama-dyotikā, this text is very brief in its treatment of Devīpratiṣṭhā, and hence may be at the most based on the Kriyākramadyotikā.

Beginning

366.9. UTSAVAPADDHATI

Similar to n° 54.

This text deals with the procedure of festival in the temple. It deals with Vijñāpanapūjā, Vṛṣādhivāsa, Dhvajārohaṇa, Aṅkurārpaṇa, etc., and abruptly breaks off with Pratisarabandhana. The author whose name is not known states at the beginning that he is writing this work based on the Kāmika and other Āgama-s for the easy understanding of the novices in the field.

Beginning

The first text in this Ms. begins on fol. 4 (marked 158 in the margin). This shows that this Ms. has lost fols. 1 to 157 and that the texts with fol.nos. are also not noted for 116-157. Fol. 16 deals with Ekādaśīvrata. Fol. 19 contains the detailed contents of this text.

367.1. DĪKṢĀVIDHI

This text contains a brief treatment of Dīkṣā. At the outset, certain restrictions are placed before initiation is undertaken. Pollution (āśauca) consequent upon the birth of a child, following a funeral procession and others are to be carefully understood and initiation shall not be undertaken while the aspirant is affected by these. Passages are cited from the Pārameśvara, the Kāmika and the Somaśambhu-paddhati. Brief treatment is given to the Nirvāṇa and other kinds of Dīkṣā. The text is incomplete. This is of unknown authorship.

367.3. MĀNĀṄGULĀDI

(Svacchandabhairava)

This text forms part of Svacchandabhairava, which is called Svacchandalalitabhairava. For details, see note on n° 163.2. The colophon on fol. 12b, mentions that the pramāṇa meaning measurement is treated there. What follows from fol. 12b, to fol. 15a deals with mānāṅgula, mātrāṅgula and dehalabdhāṅgula. Of these, treatment of mānāṅgula is detailed. This topic is not found in the printed edition (KSTS). The matter dealt with on fols. 12b-15a does not have the colophon and so may be taken to be incomplete. There is no evidence to show that this portion is a part of Svacchandabhairava.

Beginning

372.8. ŚYĀMALĀṢṬOTTARAŚATANĀMĀVALI

Similar to n° 363.5.
This text contains 108 names of Śyāmalā. This has an abrupt beginning with the 10th name and has the end but each folio of this text is broken at the edges or in the middle and is thus having some names missing. This is printed in the Jayamaṅgala Part X pp. 181-184, Salem Literary Press. This text is also named in the printed edn. as Mīnākṣyaṣṭottaraśatanāmāvali.

Beginning

Fol. 16a, (col.2), l.2. manteśyai namaḥ / puṣpiṇyai namaḥ / mantriṇyai namaḥ / śivāyai namaḥ / kalāvatyai namaḥ / raktavastrāyai namaḥ //
